DECLARES SPEER'S MENTAL FACULTIES "BAD AND IMPAIRED"

Decided New and Sensational Turn in Investigation of Charges Against Judge Speer by Congressional Committee.

CONDITIONS IN COURT RAPPED BY ATTORNEY

John R. L. Smith, Prominent Macon Lawyer, Declares District Attorney Has Been Openly Sneered At by Judge.

Macon, Ga., January 19.—A new turn was taken in the investigation of the charges against Judge Emory Speer, of official misconduct of the United States court, southern district of Georgia, this afternoon, when members of the subcommitee of the house committee on judiciary, which is conducting the inquiry, questioned witnesses regarding the mental condition of the jurist.

John R. L. Smith, a leading member of the Macon bar, declared that Judge Speer's mental faculties were, in his opinion, "bad, impaired, variant."

Previous to this he had testified that at one time he had believed Judge Speer's perception to be the "quickest, strongest and clearest of any man I have ever had to deal with."

"Does he still possess more than ordinary ability?" was asked.

"No," was the reply.

Mr. Smith further testified that, in the prosecution of a criminal case, District Attorney Alexander Akerman had been almost "run out of court" by Judge Speer, who, he stated, sneered at him and sought to belittle him in the eyes of the jury.

He declared that conditions in Judge Speer's court were unsatisfactory, and that the court does not possess the confidence of the people. He declared this to be "because Judge Speer's course is high-handed, domineering, dictatorial, somewhat untrammeled by law, characterized in a measure by favoritism to a few, and a corresponding strong antipathy to another clique, which, like the constant dripping of water on stone, has worn out the patience of the people."

Illegal Fines Imposed.

Another development of the afternoon session was the introduction of two witnesses to show that Judge Speer had imposed fines without jurisdiction of law. Kerney Wright, assistant janitor at the Macon federal building, and Emma Powers, assistant janitress, admitted that they had been ordered to pay $1 each for failure to properly perform their duties. Emma Powers stated that the money was collected from her by a deputy marshal, and was returned to her.

When questioned by the committee the two negroes denied having been fined $10 each for dereliction of duty, but Emma Powers admitted the fact when the order of the court was read to her by Chairman Webb.

"Were you fined $1 for failing to clean a spittoon?" Wright was asked.

"Yes, sir," he admitted.

"Did you pay it?"

"No, sir."

"Why?"

"I didn't have the money."

Speer and Counsel Smiled.

Judge Speer and counsel smiled broadly at the testimony of the witnesses, apparently treating the affair as a joke. Members of the committee also appeared to be amused.

Cecil Morgan, deputy clerk of the United States court of the southern district of Georgia, and a brother-in-law of Judge Speer, was introduced to prove the time at which the mandate of the supreme court of the United States had been issued in the appealed habeas corpus case of Henry Jemison, and the time at which it had been made a judgment of the lower court. He testified that the mandate was issued on November 24, 1905, and was filed as a record of the lower court on June 8, 1906. On cross-examination the witness could not state whether the present courtroom was at that time in process of construction, and the meeting of the court temporarily interrupted.

The committee examined six witnesses during the day, adjourning at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Chairman Webb at times showed a disposition to expedite the proceedings, and frequently requested attorneys for Judge Speer to confine their questions to pertinent issues. Judge Speer was present in court throughout the day, and advised constantly with counsel.

R. Colton Lewis, special examiner for the department of justice, who has taken more than one hundred depositions in the case, is present at the hearing.

Chairman Webb announced the appointment of Nathan B. Williams as sergeant-at-arms.

The Morning Session.

Custis Nottingham, former city recorder of Macon, was the first witness called this morning.

Mr. Nottingham testified that in his official capacity as city recorder he had, in 1904, sentenced Henry Jemison, said to be an employee of Judge Speer, to the county chaingang for violation of a city ordinance. On the same day, he testified, an additional sentence had been imposed on Jemison for using obscene language. The two sentences aggregated an imprisonment of seven months. He stated that habeas corpus proceedings were brought in Judge Speer's court and the prisoner ordered

Prominent Bankers Who Led the Way on Monday To Indorsement of Atlanta for Regional Bank

Left to right: J. P. Hoskins, of Chattanooga, cashier of the First National bank, who on Monday was made a member of the National Currency Reserve Association of Georgia; Colonel Robert J. Lowry, president of the Atlanta Clearing House Association, who presided at Monday's luncheon to the Georgia bankers, congratulating Henry T. Powell, president of the Macon Savings bank, of Macon, who made the motion which was unanimously adopted indorsing Atlanta as the logical city for the location of a southeastern regional reserve bank.

HE MURDERED WIFE FOR STEP-DAUGHTER

Robert Higgins Says He Committed Crime at Instigation of Girl, Who Was Infatuated With Him.

Galesburg, Ill., January 19.—Robert Higgins confessed today that he murdered his wife at New Henderson, Ill., January 5, so he would be free to marry his step-daughter, Julia Flake, 15 years old.

He was arrested after the girl told State's Attorney John L. Wilson, of Mercer county, of her infatuation for Higgins and that she importuned him to dispose of her mother who, she said, was the only obstacle between her and happiness.

Girl Told of Murder Scheme.

The prosecutor hesitated to believe the girl's story of the pact she entered into with her step-father, but she told how they had schemed to devise a plan which would make Mrs. Higgins' death appear accidental? She said she was in the next room when Higgins fired the shotgun which brought instant death to her mother. She told how Higgins raved and struggled with neighbors for possession of the gun, saying he would end his own life. Then when the excitement subsided somewhat, she said, they explained that Higgins had been cleaning the gun and it was discharged accidentally.

Their story was so convincing the coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death. Later C. W. Earnest, a maternal uncle of the girl, took two letters written by Julia Flake, one to himself and one to his daughter, to State's Attorney Wilson.

Offered to Pay for Murder.

In these letters the girl offered part of a legacy of $7,000 she is to receive when she becomes of age, provided they would help her to kill her mother. Mr. Wilson thought the letters were written in a fit of anger, but he investigated. He called in State's Attorney A. J. Boutelle, of Knox county, and Sunday they went to see Julia, who was at the home of another uncle, A. J. Ernest, at Hermon. They were astounded by her story.

Higgins, who is 26 years of age, and several years the junior of the woman he killed, was found today at New Henderson. He broke down after several hours' questioning.

"I can't stand it any longer," he moaned. "I'll tell everything."

Higgins signed a typewritten confession. He gave what he said were all the details of the murder plot and asserted his infatuation for his step-daughter was the cause of it all. He said Mrs. Higgins became suspicious of his relations with her daughter and they planned to get rid of her.

The girl became hysterical on learning of Higgins' confession.

FARM EXTENSION BILL PASSED BY THE HOUSE

Washington, January 19.—Under suspension of the rules the house today passed the Smith-Lever agricultural extension bill, which now goes to the senate. It would appropriate $480,000 the first year for government aid to state agricultural schools—$10,000 to each state—and the amount would increase yearly until after ten years $3,000,000 a year would be appropriated.

Victim of Hold-Up Arrested Because He Shot at Robber

H. H. Finch Contributes to Highwayman, Then Loses Pistol, and Is Given Bed in Police Station.

When H. H. Finch, a pressman, aged 26 years, fired upon a hold-up man who had robbed him of $40 in the center of the downtown district early last night, the highwayman escaped and his victim was arrested and sent to police headquarters for carrying concealed weapons and discharging firearms in the city limits.

Finch, who lives at 148 Edgewood avenue, was walking down Edgewood in the direction of Ivy street. Midway of the block, a man jumped from a stairway.

Thrusting a pistol in Finch's face the highwayman, who wore his coat collar upturned and a cap well down over the forehead, demanded that Finch throw up his hands. As Finch reached to his hip for a revolver which he says he has carried only since the present wave of crime, the hold-up man shot his fist to his victim's jaw and thrust his hand into his inside coat pocket.

The highwayman got Finch's leather wallet containing $40 in cash, he says, and some valuable papers. As the robber wheeled and darted down Edgewood avenue, Finch pulled his pistol and fired twice. Neither shot took effect.

Policemen Collins and W. R. Jones were patrolling their beat further up the street. Hearing the shots, they ran to the sceen. Finch admitted the shooting and suggested that an effort be made to run down the highwayman.

The policemen, however, relieved him of his pistol and cartridges and sent Finch to prison under charge of carrying concealed weapons and discharging firearms within the city limits. He was held under bond of $100. He will be arraigned before Recorder Broyles this afternoon.

This is the second daring hold-up that has occurred within a little more than twenty-four hours near the spot where Finch was arrested. Sam Davis, a Greek, was badly beaten and robbed by a man whom he identified in court Monday afternoon as Ezra Brown, a white telegraph lineman.

JOHN D., JR., BRAGS OF NEVER DRINKING ONE DROP OF LIQUOR

New York, January 19.—"I never have drunk a drop of intoxicating liquor in my life; neither did my father nor his father before him," declared John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in a talk to his Bible class at the Fifth Avenue Baptist church. "I am glad to note that social drinking seems to be decreasing," he added, "but drinking generally seems to be increasing in spite of the fact that in some states there is prohibition. Prohibition does not seem to prohibit."

Cleveland, Ohio, January 18.—John D. Rockefeller gave the children at the Euclid Baptist Sunday school yesterday instructions in investing money and he distributed 711 bright new pennies among them to be returned with interest, he said, as a basis for a home mission fund.

"I want each child to invest his penny until he has made 1 cent for each year of his age, and then return the money to the home mission fund."

STREET RAILWAY GOOD INVESTMENT FOR SAN FRANCISCO

San Francisco, Cal., January 19.—Profits on the first municipal street railway in the country—the Geary street line—were $85,345 net for 1913. Returns for the last six months indicate that profits of at least $150,000 may be expected for 1914. In estimating the net income, allowances were made for a sinking fund to redeem bonds, depreciation of the property and reselling stock and all other expenses that would be charged against a private corporation.

RAIL STRIKE ENDS; VICTORY FOR UNION

Delaware and Hudson Road Agrees to Reinstate Two Discharged Men, and 5,000 Strikers Resume Work.

Albany, N. Y., January 19.—The strike on the Delaware and Hudson railway was settled tonight. Company officials met the union's demands that they restore two discharged employees, Engineer James A. Lynch and Conductor F. A. Slade, to their former positions. All strikers will return to duty immediately.

G. W. W. Hanger, a member of the federal board of mediation and conciliation, brought about the agreement.

The dispute over the discharge of two employees by the Delaware and Hudson railway tied up the entire operating end of the system. About 5,000 men, it is estimated, went out.

Reinstatement of the discharged employees with full back pay was the only union demand.

Road Advised to Yield.

A settlement was reached only after Mr. Hanger had suggested to company officials that they yield to the demands of the men. Arbitration, he declared, was impossible.

Normal conditions would be restored in two hours, union officials promised at 9:30 o'clock. As soon as Clifford S. Sims, vice president and general manager of the railway, and union officials had signed the agreement orders were sent out for men to report for work as quickly as possible. Many crews that had been tied up at terminal points were notified by telegraph to resume their runs without reporting here.

Slade and Lynch were discharged more than a year ago, when a car on their train jumped the track and bumped along the ties for three and a half miles. They were discharged on the ground that they were negligent and had violated a company rule and caused much damage to property. The union officials replied that the accident was unavoidable and that no serious damage was done.

For several months the company and union officials debated the proposition of restoring the men to work. A week ago 98 per cent of the employees voted to strike if Slade and Lynch were not restored.

Entire System Paralyzed.

Early today the first body of men walked out. From then on until noon engineers, conductors, trainmen, telegraph operators and towermen gradually quit as soon as the safety of passengers would permit. At noon it was estimated that 5,000 men were out, and the entire system was paralyzed. Shop workers and office employees alone remained on duty. It was less than two hours after the last striker had left his work that Mr. Hanger arrived here from New York and began negotiations with the two sides. Mr. Sims agreed immediately to an arbitration, but union officials were firm in their demands. Within an hour Hanger decided arbitration was impossible. So he drew up an agreement granting the demands, obtained Mr. Sims' signature and the strike was declared off a few minutes later.

In a statement issued after the agreement had been signed Mr. Sims said that the company officials had yielded to serve the best interests of the public. It was the railroad officials who originally asked the federal board to intercede.

No violence was reported as a result of the strike. Union leaders told the men to leave the company's property quietly and they did so.

Several days will be required to straighten out the mail, express and freight which has accumulated at points along the lines.

PENSIONS FOR MOTHERS FAVORED BY GORMAN

Washington, January 19.—Mothers' pensions were proposed today in a bill introduced by Representative Gorman, of Illinois. All widowed mothers, having one or more children under 18 years and made dependent by death or disability, would be placed upon the roll for $10 to $15 a month.

CITY DEPARTMENTS LIBERALLY TREATED IN FINANCE SHEET

Many Increases Are Granted and Salaries of Several Officials Are Raised by the Committee.

CITY NEEDS BOND ISSUE, ASSERTS HUMPHREY

Impossible to Attempt to Carry Out Big Improvement Projects on Current Income, He Says.

The 1914 finance sheet, carrying $4,905,719.95 for all purposes, was introduced in council yesterday afternoon. The sheet carries $180,335, which includes the charter fund under the head of trust funds, $226,500 interest on bonds and loans, and $400,604.93, representing the city's indebtedness.

Chairman W. G. Humphrey urged the issuance of bonds to make public improvements when he offered the sheet in council.

Chairman Humphrey told council members that it is useless for the city to attempt to carry out big improvement projects on its current income.

"No city can grow without issuing bonds," Chairman Humphrey said. "Atlanta's tax rate is so low that a $5,000,000 bond issue won't be a burden on any one."

Bond Issue Necessary.

Chairman Humphrey explained that while it is true that the city will be in better financial condition next year than ever before in its history, those interested in its growth should get together and call for a bond issue election.

He called attention to the fact that the sheet includes $70,000 to meet the increases in the salaries of the teachers, firemen and policemen, and an additional $85,000 to pay for the new fire alarm system.

No attempt was made to pass the sheet Monday afternoon. Members of the finance committee deny that it was ever contemplated to rush the sheet through council.

"We want every member of council to study the sheet carefully," Chairman Humphrey said. "The committee worked every day for more than a week on the sheet, and apportioned the money in a manner which every member believes to have been in the best interest of the entire city."

Dissatisfaction Not Evident.

If there is any dissatisfaction over the making up of the sheet it was not evident on the floor of council immediately after or prior to the introduction of the sheet. Some members who declared that they were opposed to the sheet on the face of the meager details furnished by the committee, took the position that the committee did the best it could with the money.

The sentiment in council is strongly in favor of more money for new projects; in fact, a report was circulated that a caucus will be held next Monday for the purpose of determining whether or not more of the anticipated revenue should be included in the sheet. The finance committee added $136,300 to the surplus, making the total amount for new projects $156,300. The question now is whether the general council in caucus or in open session will agree to tearing up the sheet. Several members have declared themselves as being opposed to some of the projects provided for, and unless they can have the projects cut down they will ask that more anticipated money be added to the sheet.

Mayor Woodward favors the sheet as it now stands, and will not countenance the addition of more of the unearned money. He has strongly intimated that he will veto the sheet if council decides to increase the sum total for new projects. Hostile members are working now with a view of stirring up enough strength to override the mayor.

However, the mayor still has the alternative of refusing to sign checks. If such a condition arises it will be necessary for the city to fall back on the charter fund of $175,000 to meet the payrolls.

Provides for Departments.

The 1914 sheet provides liberally for the operation of the various city departments, some getting increases over last year, while others are given less. In addition to $945,418.59 apportioned to the construction department for all purposes, the committee put aside $75,000 street paving, grading and repairs (macadam and chert fund) and $30,000 for asphalt repairs.

Some of the new street improvement projects taken care of and the exact amounts given to start work are as follows:

Whitehall street regrade, $6,748.48; Bellwood avenue widening, $5,000; West Hunter street widening, $1,000; West Peachtree widening and regrading, $15,000; West Mitchell, street $6,000; Ormond street, $1,398; Pryor street widening and repaving between Georgia avenue and Ridge avenue, $15,000; repave Cherokee avenue, $5,000; Boulevard over Proctor creek sewer, $2,000; widen "bottle neck" of Peachtree, Forsyth to Harris and resetting curb and extending pavement, $16,000; city's part for material in extending Spring street from Fourteenth to Peachtree, $5,000; Westwood avenue, city's part, $1,466; Flat Shoals road, Moreland avenue to limits, $3,673; East Fair from Moreland to limits, $1,800; resurface Stewart avenue, $2,500; Glenn street from West End to Georgia avenue, $10,000.

With exactly $116,646.13, representing the bond balance, and $182,000 from the sale of bonds to the sinking fund commission, the total for sewer work is $509,679.43, for which the committee set aside $140,000 for lateral sewers, $12,000 for repairs, $5,000 for Whiteford avenue sewer, $5,205 for Butler street sewer extension, $4,000 for Moreland avenue extension, $19,000 for Highland avenue extension, $3,500 for Druid Hills sewer, $1,100 for intercepting

ATLANTA INDORSED FOR REGIONAL BANK BY STATE BANKERS

Financiers, Gathered Here to Hear Currency Law Discussed, Act on Motion of Henry Powell, of Macon.

NEW SYSTEM PUTS END TO PANICS, SAYS SMITH

Georgia's Junior Senator Shows How Regional Bank in This City Will Prove of Value to Whole Southeast.

The dinner which the Atlanta Clearing House association tendered the bankers of Georgia at the Capital City club Monday afternoon, when United States Senator Hoke Smith was the principal speaker, explaining the operation and benefits of the new banking and currency law, wound up in a rousing rally for Atlanta as the regional bank center of a district to be composed of the southeastern states, when 500 Georgia bankers rose to their feet and formally indorsed Atlanta.

The general trend of the junior senator's speech was that "what it takes to convince the regional reserve system organization committee that Atlanta needs and deserves a regional bank, Atlanta has got," and this sentiment reached its climax when Henry T. Powell, president of the Macon Savings bank, of Macon, Ga., made a motion that the approximately 500 Georgia bankers assembled indorse Atlanta as the logical location for such a bank.

All Are for Atlanta.

It was at the conclusion of Senator Smith's speech that Mr. Powell, who sat in a balcony above the banquet hall, arose and made his stirring motion. The entire body of bankers was on its feet in an instant and, amid shouts of enthusiasm, the motion carried without a single dissenting voice.

Nearly 500 bankers from all parts of Georgia, and several from neighboring states, were the guests of the Atlanta Clearing House association to hear Senator Smith's explanation of the new money measure. Hardly has a larger, more earnest and more enthusiastic crowd ever been gathered in the banquet hall of the Capital City club. Colonel Robert J. Lowry, president of the Lowry National bank, of Atlanta, and president of the Atlanta Clearing House association, presided.

Senator Smith opened his remarks by declaring that it is his belief that the new currency and banking law is one of the greatest, if not the greatest and most important, measure of any nature passed by the national legislative body in the last fifty years.

He declared that the new measure will absolutely furnish the country with an elastic currency and will stand between the people and panics in the future.

"In times of money stringency," he said, "banks will not now be compelled to shut down on their loans, thereby increasing the stringency, but will be able to take all their good paper to the regional reserve banks of their district and get currency for it, and thus enable every depositor in each bank to receive every single penny of his money right over the counter, if necessary. It is a bill that not only protects the banks, but supplies the money needs of the people-at-large in times when they need money most."

Chances Very Bright.

"As for Atlanta's chances of getting a regional reserve bank for the southeastern states," he continued, "I believe they are very bright. When the currency measure was being framed we who know of the great prosperity of the southeast and the strategic position which Atlanta holds in the growth of this territory felt sure that Atlanta was the logical place for the location of one of these banks. To this end we had an amendment placed to the bill enlarging the number of reserve cities to twelve if necessary, instead of eight, so that Atlanta could not possibly be left out.

"I believe when the organization committee sits in Atlanta it will readily see the need of a bank here. In fact, it is already cognizant of the necessity of placing a bank in Atlanta.

"In getting such a bank, Atlanta will make the acquisition purely upon her merits and through no political machinations. The organization committee is a body upon which rests such great responsibility that no questions of politics can be allowed to enter into the making of its choice. It is business altogether that will determine the decision of the committee. The committee is making history.

"That is the greatest reason why I believe that Atlanta will get the bank which she so justly deserves. If the organization committee does not choose Atlanta I shall be greatly disappointed in its capacity to judge."

New Banking Law.

In explaining the new banking and currency law, Senator Smith said in [illegible] follows:

"Our new act provides that the [illegible] shall be divided into districts, not less than eight nor more than twelve. In each of these districts there is to be designated a reserve city in which the reserve bank of the district will be located. In other cities there will be established branches of the reserve bank. Every national bank in the district is required to subscribe 6 per cent of its capital and surplus

SEVEN MEN ARE SHOT DEAD AND 3 PERSONS WOUNDED IN PENITENTIARY BATTLE

Three "Bad Men," Confined in the Oklahoma Prison, Secure Revolvers and Make Desperate Effort to Fight Their Way to Freedom.

CONVICTS ARE KILLED AFTER THEIR BULLETS MURDER FOUR PERSONS

One of the Men Killed by the Convicts Was Former U. S. Judge Thomas, Who Was Visiting the Prison. The Convicts Used Miss Foster, the Prison Stenographer, as a Shield, and She Was Wounded—Convicts Killed as They Fled in a Buggy.

McAlester, Okla., January 19.—Seven men were shot to death and three persons were wounded today when three convicts attempted to escape from the state penitentiary and were slain by guards. One of the men murdered by the convicts in their dash for liberty was John R. Thomas, of Muskogee, formerly United States district judge, and once congressman from Illinois.

Despite the commotion caused by the three men in trying to shoot down every one who came in their way, no general attempt was made by other convicts to join in the delivery. The three mutineers were encouraged by their less desperate fellows who cheered the onslaught of the armed prisoners.

So rapidly did the three convicts shoot down those in their path that they reached the prison gate before the guards could return their fire.

Used Girl as Shield.

The desperados had taken the keys from the turnkey, John Martin, whom they had wounded, and had sheltered themselves through the prison yard by holding Mary Foster, a telephone operator, in front of them until the only shot fired by guards in the yard hit the girl in the leg.

Outside the gate the men seized the horse and buggy of Warden Dick and dashed away, only to be shot to death by pursuing guards. One of the convicts fought to the last, their stolen horse lashed to a gallop by the other two. They fired their last cartridges at the on-coming guards who poured in a deadly fire from horseback.

Even after the escaped men were lying dead in the bottom of the careening buggy, the frightened horse dashed onward until felled by a bullet from the pursuers. How the men obtained the weapons and planned the escape has not been discovered, but a rigid inquiry will be begun soon.

The Dead and Wounded.

The following is the list of the dead:

JOHN R. THOMAS, Muskogee, formerly United States district judge.

H. H. DROVER, superintendent Bertillon department.

PATRICK OATES, assistant deputy warden.

F. C. GODFREY, guard.

CHINA REED, under sentence of two years for larceny.

TOM LANE, Pauls Valley, under five-year sentence for forgery.

C. F. von HERRMANN,
Section Director.

ty, serving forty-year sentence for manslaughter.

Wounded:

John Martin, turnkey, shot through cheek.

C. L. Wood, guard, shot through arm.

Mary Foster, telephone operator, shot through leg.

The attempted mutiny occurred at the end of the day's work. Reed, Law and Koontz worked in the tailor shop, and when their work was ended they approached the back door of the office in the administration building. There they met John Martin, the turnkey. They told Martin they wanted to see the parole officer. As Martin opened the door Reed struck him repeatedly with a large revolver, shot him through the cheek and robbed him of his keys.

Shot Through the Heart.

The prisoners, all armed with revolvers and shouting to others to follow them, ran toward the warden's office. There they met Oakes, the assistant warden, and before he could defend himself Reed shot him through the heart.

The greatest confusion ensued. Convicts ran about shouting words of encouragement to the mutineers. By this time the guards were alert and began firing. A random shot passing through a door in the office of Drover, the Bertillon officer, killed him. He was rushing to aid his fellow officers when he fell.

Godfrey, the guard, sprang directly into the path of the mutineers, discharging his revolver at them. He, too, fell a victim to Reed's deadly aim.

John R. Thomas, formerly United States district judge, and widely known throughout Oklahoma, was sitting in the warden's office awaiting the return of Warden R. W. Dick, with whom he had a business engagement.

"There must be some trouble outside," he said as he arose and walked toward the door of the warden's office. Apparently mistaking Judge Thomas for the warden, the mutineers fired a volley of shots at him. He sank to the floor mortally wounded.

Fearing an alarm might be given by the telephone operator, Mary Foster, the three men next gave their attention to the telephone switchboard. They turned it over and tried to disconnect it.

Convicts Dragged the Girl.

"You come with us," they shouted as they dragged the girl into the prison yard, holding her before them to keep the guards from shooting.

Shielded by the girl's presence and cheered on by 1,500 convicts, the three men made their way across the prison yard. Only one shot was fired at them and it struck the girl.

As she sank to the ground wounded the convicts sprang to the prison gate. With the keys they had taken from Turnkey Martin they unlocked it and were free. Outside the gate the horse and buggy of Warden Dick was hitched. The three men sprang into it.

On the wall the big guns began to belch forth at the fleeing convicts.

Guards and prison officials quickly mounted horses and the pursuit of the convicts began. It was short lived. The heavy load that Warden Dick's horse was pulling soon ended the fight. The guards were overtaking the prisoners.

"You'll never take us alive," shouted Reed as he stood up in the buggy and fired at the approaching officers. The other convicts bent low to avoid the scattering bullets.

The Three Mutineers Killed.

Reed fought the fight alone. Fear-stricken, the others crouched behind the staggering horse. The guards poured a merciless fire into the buggy.

The horse fell and the convicts ceased firing. The three mutineers lay in a heap in the bullet-riddled buggy dead.

Although there was the greatest confusion among the 1,500 prisoners, the guards soon subdued them and none escaped.

Warden Dick tonight was unable to account for how the convicts obtained the revolvers. It is believed they were secreted near the prison by friends. One of the guards told tonight of hearing a motor car stop in the road near the prison last night. He said the car remained outside the prison several minutes, then drove away. The authorities believe this car had something to do with the mutiny.

Known as "Bad Men."

Reed, Law and Koontz were known in the prison as "bad men." Reed had a long criminal record in the early days of old Indian Territory. He was sentenced to two years in prison last year on a charge of stealing a horse. Law came from Paul's Valley on a forgery sentence of five years, while Koontz was serving forty years for manslaughter.

Oakes, the assistant deputy warden, came here from western Oklahoma. He was one of the most popular officers at the prison. He served in Colonel Roosevelt's Rough Rider regiment in the Spanish-American war.

Drover has been a photographer in McAlester for years and but recently had accepted the place of Bertillon officer at the prison.

Judge Thomas was one of the first judges appointed after federal courts were established in Indian Territory.

Former Member of Congress.

Muskogee, Okla., January 19.—John R. Thomas, of Muskogee, who was shot and killed at McAlester today by prisoners attempting to escape from the state penitentiary, formerly was a member of congress from Illinois.

He served five terms as representative from the fourth district of that state, from 1879 to 1889. Shortly after his retirement from congress he removed to what was then the Indian Territory, and in 1897 was appointed United States district judge by President McKinley. When his term expired in 1901 he established his residence in Muskogee and engaged in the practice of law. Mr. Thomas was also past grand master of the Masonic lodge in Illinois. He was 66 years old and was born in Mount Vernon, Ill.

His son, John R. Thomas, Jr., is a captain in the First regiment, United States infantry, stationed at Honolulu.

$771,250 FOR GEORGIA FOR IMPROVING ROADS

If an Amendment Offered to the Postoffice Measure Is Adopted.

Washington, January 19.—A supplemental report on the bill to appropriate $25,000,000 a year for federal aid to road construction in the various states was filed in the house today by Representative Shackleford, chairman of the house roads committee. A special rule making this bill in order as an amendment to the postoffice appropriation bill now before the house, probably will be acted upon tomorrow by the rules committee.

The bill proposes to divide the appropriation among the states in proportion to the rural delivery routes and post roads in each state. Tables setting forth the mileage of these roads in each state were included in the report filed today.

Another table gave the amount of federal aid which states might receive under the provisions of the bill.

The amounts for the southern states were fixed as follows:

Alabama, $578,750; Florida, $183,750; Georgia, $771,250; Kentucky, $583,750; Louisiana, $302,500; Mississippi, $473,750; North Carolina, $660,000; South Carolina, $415,000; Tennessee, $706,250; Texas, $1,126,250; Virginia, $591,250.

MOTORCYCLE POLICEMAN INJURED IN COLLISION

While speeding to a burglar alarm at 80½ Decatur street Sunday night, Motorcycle Police C. O. Cochran collided on his machine with Walter Smith, a half-blind negro boy, at Decatur and Piedmont, in a severe spill which sent Cochran to the hospital with a wrenched ankle and foot and broken thumb.

The negro was not so painfully injuured as the policeman, due to Cochran's efforts to swerve his machine over to the curb in order to avoid striking the boy. Both were carried to Grady hospital. Smith suffered a number of cuts and bruises about the head and face. The accident was unavoidable, eye-witnesses declared.

NOT THE SAME ECHOLS.

Retail Groceryman Annoyed Over Similarity of Names.

Evidently there are two C. C. Echols in Atlanta. One was arrested, suspected of being implicated with John Calhoun Banks in the Wickersham robbery of last week; the other, the 24-year-old member of the retail grocery firm of D. L. Echols & Co., located at 271 Pulliam street. The latter is receiving numerous letters and queries from friends concerning his supposed arrest.

Echols, the groceryman, resides at 484 Central avenue, and has been living in Atlanta all of his life.

The C. C. Echols who was arrested had no connection with the theft, according to Banks.

Mrs. A. D. Daniel, wife of A. D. Daniel, traveling passenger agent of the A., B. & A., who had been ill for some time, died at Asheville, N. C., Sunday morning. The interment took place at Warrenton, N. C., Monday. Mrs. Daniel was a resident of Atlanta before and after her marriage, and had many friends in the city who will regret to learn of her death.

1,624 Words Out of 11 Letters; Miss Henry Wins Big Contest

MISS FANNIE LEE HENRY.

"Peg o' My Heart" Winners.

First prize, six box seats and after-theater dinner for party of six at Winecoff hotel:

Miss Fannie Lee Henry, 46 Euclid avenue, 1,624 words.

Second prizes, two orchestra seats each:

Louis D. Jones, 24-A South Broad street; Mrs. D. H. Camp, 36 East Merritts avenue; Mrs. J. A. Shields, 15 Kings highway, Decatur; W. F. Dykes, Boys' High school; Miss A. Longley, 243 Juniper street; L. M. Miller, 103 Peachtree place; Mrs. Hel-Helen Stanley, 52 Peachtree street; Miss Bloomye Sater, 321 Central avenue; Mis Eleanor Williams, 125 East Eleventh street; Mrs. D. F. Shumate, 95 North Moreland avenue; W. Harry Parker, 912 Grant building; Mrs. W. C. Thompson, 202 Angier avenue; A. M. Wilmer, 731 Piedmont avenue; Miss Celestine Massa, 281 Capitol avenue; E. H. Hinton, Jr., 536 Spring street; J. H. Nicholson, M. D., 402 Peachtree street; Miss Margle L. Webster, 38 Garfield place; William W. Henry, Georgia Railway and Electric company; Mrs. T. P. Ivy, 443 Crew street; W. J. Connor, 132 Windstor street.

When pretty Miss Fannie Lee Henry saw The Constitution at her home, 46 Euclid avenue—the Sunday issue, in which the "Peg o' My Heart" contest was announced—she sat down, through idle curiosity, to see just how many words she could make of the eleven letters.

That was about 8 o'clock. An hour later she got in touch with the unabridged oricle through which Webster speaks to the present generation. Soon she was deluged with words. Some time later her mother called from the head of the stairs:

"Do you realize what time it is, my dear?"

"Yes, ma'am," came the answer. "About 10 o'clock."

"Ten o'clock plus four hours," replied the mother. "It's 2 o'clock, going on 3."

Miss Fannie Lee Henry glanced over the flood of words she had formed from the "Peg o' My Heart" letters and found there were 1,624. She wanted to continue her task, but her mother insisted that she retire. And, therefore, if it hadn't been for the lateness of the hour and the insistence of a parent, Miss Fannie Lee Henry, winner of the "Peg o' My Heart" contest, would have been forming words until now.

The contest came to a close Monday at 12 o'clock noon. There were over 900 contestants. Twenty-one were prize winners. Miss Henry will be awarded six box seats at tonight's performance at the Atlanta theater, and a supper for her party of six at the Winecoff hotel.

Her box party will be formed of Ivan Cochran, Miss Catherine Newbanks, Miss Agnes Williams, Thornton Everett, Carey Bond and herself. The other twenty winners will be given two orchestra seats each for tonight's permance. Letters have been mailed out to all winners, authorizing them to call at the box office for their tickets.

WELSH LADIES' CHOIR SINGS AT AUDITORIUM

Tonight the Royal Welsh Ladies' Choir will sing at the Auditorium-Armory. The choir bears an excellent reputation everywhere in continental Europe, established through their concert tours within the last five years.

Madame Hughes-Thomas, the present director, is noted as a pianiste, harpiste and spelndid vocal teacher. The choir, numbering twenty, is composed solely of her pupils.

Tonight's program is extremely interesting. Besides a number of part songs, duet and vocal solos, it contains two violin solos, "Salterello" by Papini, and "Cambria" by Poole. Miss Dorothie Smith, the young violiniste with the Welsh singers, is extraordinarily talented, and her playing has been highly praised by the critics.

The concert will begin at 8:30 o'clock sharp. Seats are on sale at the Cable Piano company until 5 p. m., after that at the box office. The tickets are from 50 cents to $1.50.

ANNUAL MEETING OF ATHENS CHAMBER

Athens, Ga., January 19.—(Special.) The chamber of commerce of Athens, a member of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce and of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, will hold its annual meeting for the election of officers Tuesday night. President Andrew C. Erwin has done great things for Athens in the past year. Secretary C. C. Callaway resigned and has moved to Atlanta, from which city he came to Athens.

HOOSIERS WILL ENJOY FIRST ANNUAL DINNER

The banquet hall of the Hotel Ansley will be beautifully decorated today in anticipation of the Hoosier society dinner to be held there at 8 o'clock tonight.

About 150 guests will sit at the banquet board. Several features in the way of pleasant surprises for the guests have been planned by the society executive committee.

At the dinner tonight, W. L. Halstead will preside. The reception committee will be composed of the members of the executive committee of the organization and their ladies.

15 Per Cent Dividend.

Hampton, Ga., January 19.—(Special.) The stockholders of the Bank of Hampton met in annual session today and paid a dividend of 15 per cent to the stockholders. The following were elected as directors: A. J. Henderson, Dr. R. J. Arnold, L. C. Dorsett, W. P. Wilson, J. L. Moore, W. M. Harris, J. M. Tarpley, H. G. Fields and I. D. Crawfords. Officers: W. P. Wilson, president; Dr. R. J. Arnold, vice president; J. O. Rutherford, cashier.

INTEREST IS KEEN IN TRUST MESSAGE

Great Crowd Will Greet President Wilson When He Appears Before House and Senate Today.

Washington, January 19.—Congress will meet in joint session in the house chamber tomorrow to listen to the fifth message of President Wilson, his special address on the subject of the trusts and their regulation.

Interest in the forthcoming message is intense. While members of the house and senate committees which will handle the trust legislation have been privileged to hear the address in advance, they have kept well their confidences except to assure their colleagues that the president's words will meet with favor in congress and the nation at large.

The president plans to begin delivery of his message at 12:30 o'clock. A few minutes before the house will recess to await the arrival of the senate, which will march in a body from the senate chamber, headed by the vice president and sergeant-at-arms.

Demands for tickets of admission to the galleries have been the greatest ever known for such an occasion. The capacity is limited and each senator and representative is being assigned only a single ticket, though they are overwhelmed with requests.

Processes of Accommodation.

The administration intends, chiefly through its trust program, to "facilitate the processes of accommodation" as contrasted with "the processes of suit."

President Wilson told callers today that the recent agreements between the department of justice and business concerns were not settlements which abated the law in the least degree, but merely understandings as to the method and time within which corporations were to conform to the law while being allowed reasonable periods for adjustment.

In that sense the word "accommodation" is used, meaning accommodating the processes to the interests of business, though not abating the law. The president believes in that connection that better machinery for conducting processes of accommodation to the law ought to be set up.

An interstate trade commission is the body the president has in mind to fill that need, though it was apparent today that he had not gone further than outlining its general functions and intends that details of limiting the commission's powers shall be left to the congressional committees.

Commercial-Appeal Wins.

Washington, January 19.—The Commercial-Appeal Publishing company, a Tennessee corporation, today won the libel suit for $20,000 brought against it by J. W. Cain, of Mississippi. Cain sued in Mississippi for an alleged libel published in The Commercial-Appeal. The suit was removed from the state to the federal court, and there dismissed because the company had no agent to be served in Mississippi. Cain appealed to the supreme court on the ground that after the removal the company could not question the service.

Feel Out of Sorts?

It's a good idea to look for the cause!

One common, but often unsuspected cause is coffee-drinking. Yet some persons seem able to get along with coffee—at least for a time. But when headachy, bilious days come; breakfast or some other meal doesn't taste good; and the day's work goes wrong. (Ever feel that way?)—then it's time to find out for sure if coffee is causing the trouble in your case.

There's a subtle, poisonous drug, "caffeine," in coffee that interferes with the normal functions of body, brain and nerves, and has a lot to do with one's comfort and progress.

Suppose for a test you try the simple expedient of quitting coffee and using well-made —a pure food-drink made of choice wheat. It has a delightful, Java-like flavour, but is absolutely free from caffeine or any other drug.

POSTUM

After ten days or two weeks you will be able to decide whether to go back to coffee troubles, or stick to Postum and peace and comfort.

Postum comes in two forms.

Regular Postum—must be well boiled.

Instant Postum—doesn't require boiling, but is prepared instantly by stirring a level teaspoonful in an ordinary cup of hot water and adding cream and sugar to taste.

Grocers everywhere sell both kinds.

"There's a Reason" for POSTUM

MAIL CLERKS ASK AID OF GEORGIA SENATORS

Want Restoration to Proper Grades of All Employees Reduced Without Cause.

The Railway Mail Clerks' Association of Atlanta met Monday afternoon at the Railroad Y. M. C. A. for the purpose of petitioning Senators Hoke Smith and Bacon to give their support to the resolution before the senate postoffice committee which will restore to their proper grades the postal clerks in the fourth division reduced during the period from October, 1909, to October, 1912, under the operation of the so-called "take up the slack" order of the Hitchcock administration, and not, it is said, from any fault of their own.

In the fourth division of the postal service, particularly in the states of Georgia, Alabama and Florida, there were over 200 postal clerks who, it is claimed, were unfairly demoted under the Hitchcock order.

The men wish it understood that they are completely satisfied with the present administration and its treatment in every respect. The object of the resolution is simply to correct the wrongs done the clerks in the south under the Hitchcock administration. They believe that their salaries were unjustly "cut" during those year, and that now they ought to be returned what they have lost, and in addition, that every clerk so demoted through no delinquency on his part and for service reasons, during the period named, ought to be advanced to the grade he would have been entitled to hold under the reclassification act of August 24, 1912, with back pay, had such demotion not been made under the old system.

"CASCARETS" RELIEVE SICK, SOUR STOMACH

Move Acids, Gases and Clogged Waste From Liver and Bowels.

Get a 10-cent box now.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, dizziness and sick headache, means a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

CHATTOOGA CITIZENS TO CANVASS COUNTY

Rome, Ga., January 19.—(Special.)—Citizens of Chattooga county have appointed a committee of fifteen to canvass the county and raise funds for the extension of the Rome and Northern railroad from Gore, Ga., to Subligna, a distance of 8 miles.

The right-of-way has already been donated, and a fund of $3,000 raised at a mass meeting held at Subligna. It is hoped to raise $10,000 in Chattooga county, and a like amount in Rome and Floyd county, as a bonus to insure the extension.

Consent Verdict Reached.

Waycross, Ga., January 19.—(Special.)—A consent verdict favoring the Atlantic Coast Line in the suit brought by G. C. McDonald, of Americus, was returned in superior court today. McDonald sought a twenty-fourth interest in land here valued at a million dollars, claiming an interest by an inheritance from relatives in Bibb county.

Here is a letter that makes us feel pretty good. It is from one of the largest manufacturers of tires in the world.

"As you know, we have about the largest centralized filing department in the United States, and it was quite some venture for us to change our index, but we are certainly glad we made the change.

"The girls are very enthusiastic over the new index, and the work was never in better condition after our transferred period than it is this year.

"The one thing that appeals to me in this new index is the absolute check we have on each and every piece of mail, as we have in using the numbering feature in the Automatic."

Mr. Business Man, is it not about time you got rid of the everlasting annoyance that comes from misfiled letters? The way to do it is—instal the "Automatic Index" method. It is for the little as well as the big business.

Leaves Home for the "Movies" And Returns a Blushing Bride

MRS. T. R. BOWLES,
Who left home for the "Movies" and returned a bride.

T. R. Bowles, who is 23 and handsome, wanted to marry pretty Inez Delk, but when he asked her step-father, J. A. Conard, at whose home he roomed, the father voiced strenuous objections because she was only 18, and entirely too young.

"Then," replied the youth, "I shall steal her.

"In that case," retorted the father, "I shall prosecute you for larceny from the household."

With this threat in mind, the wooer went to his prospective bride and inquired if there was any such crime as larceny from the household, and learned that there certainly was.

"But what would be the punishment for such a deed?" he queried.

"Life sentence," said the girl.

"Sentence to what?" asked the youth.

"Matrimony."

Consequently, she donned her wraps late Saturday afternoon in the home at 63 West Cain street, told her mother she was going uptown to take in the "movies." Upon returning that afternoon she came in company with young Bowles. Walking into the presence of her step-father, she said gleefully:

"Well, Judge Conard—pass sentence. The crime has been committed."

"Parental objectio noverruled," decreed the court, with a smile.

The marriage had been performed by Rev. J. R. Moore at his home.

PUBLICITY CAMPAIGN FOR THE ENTIRE SOUTH

For Campaign to Be Financed by the Leading Southern Newspapers.

Knoxville, Tenn., January 19.—A committee of southern newspaper publishers is in session in this city today for the purpose of devising ways and means for the inauguration of a broad campaign of publicity for the entire south.

The plan contemplates exploiting to the people of all sections of this country and of other nations the industrial resources that are latent in the south. The campaign is to be financed by leading southern newspapers in proportion to their respective circulation.

As a general thing the kind of man who backs his judgment with his money has to have a lot of money if he keeps it up long.

CITIZENS TO PROTEST OVER SCHOOL NEGLECT

Davis Street School District Residents Indignant With Finance Committee.

Because the finance committee of council ignored the request for an appropriation of about $60,000 for a new Davis Street school, H. M. Taylor, chairman of the Davis Street Improvement association, has issued a call for a mass meeting to be held in protest against the action of the committee.

The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock Tuesday night at the Jones Avenue Baptist church. More than 1,500 cards have been sent out to residents of the fifth ward, and it is expected that the meeting will be largely attended.

Resolutions scoring the finance committee for failure to provide some sum of money to relieve conditions at the Davis school will be adopted. It is understood that the meeting will adopt resolutions urging the committee and the general council to rescind action by which several streets were provided with money for regrading and repaving.

Councilman Jesse Lee, of the fifth ward, who is a member of the finance committee, stated Monday that he gave the committee statistics to show that more than thirty children are being kept away from school because they are ill from pneumonia and other maladies because of the improper heating facilities.

Members of the Davis Improvement association say that this is the third time the committee has been asked for money for a new school, and each time the committee has ignored the requests. A delegation of citizens appeared before the committee last week with a petition signed by more than 1,000.

TWO GET PROMOTION IN NATIONAL GUARD

Two military commissions were signed by the governor Monday. The officers promoted were:

Edwin Campbell Davis, commissioned lieutenant colonel in the medical corps. Dr. Davis is soon to be designated surgeon general.

Jesse Lawrence Stapleton, commissioned captain of the Hartwell Rifles, which is Company F, of the Third battalion of infantry. The Hartwell Rifles is a new organization which has just recently been mustered into the state's service.

ATLANTA DRUMMERS SEEK TWO-CENT RATE

Resolutions have been adopted by the Fulton council, No. 505, of the United Commercial Travelers, asking the railroad commission of Georgia for a flat 2-cent interchangeable mileage rate. The resolutions have been placed in the hands of Attorney J. L. Mayson, who will present them to the commission.

W. G. Moore, representing the Fulton council, declared that the public generally and particularly the traveling men, had been imposed upon by the withdrawal of the interchangeable mileage books sold at a 2½-cent rate. "Now that we have entered the fight again," he declared, "we will be content with nothing less than a 2-cent flat rate. We want interchangeable mileage books at this rate, which will not only be good for the purchaser, but for all the members of his family as well."

UNCLE SAM OIL CO. FIGHTS OIL TRUST

Big Guns Fired in Opening 1914 Battle for Control of Middle Western Fields.

In opening a new battle on the oil trust, the Uncle Sam Oil Co., the big independent firm, announces nearly $2,000,000 of increased property values in the last two years. They state that their leases are in line for big production. Five wells will be completed during the next forty-eight to ninety-six hours. If all should come in big at the same time, oil stock now at a low figure would immediately advance one hundred per cent.

Investors who go into the Uncle Sam Company now are assured of actual construction work being done with their money. Four hundred wells in what is believed to be the richest deposits ever tapped will be drilled.

Returns are made by officers of the company which indicate that the company's property is now equal to three times the amount necessary to make the stock worth what the company asks for it. Appeal for investment is made to the people-at-large, the company announcing the principle that "the common people, and not financial magnates, shall have all the profits made in this independent fight on the oil trust."—(adv.)

Macon, Ga., January 19.—Robbers dynamited the safe in the Macon, Dublin and Savannah railroad at Tarrytown, on the Ocmulgee, near Dublin, last night and stole $300 in cash.

The station burned following the explosion and valuable records were destroyed. Two hundred bales of cotton were rolled from the warehouse and saved. A carload of merchandise burned.

Railroad officials are conducting an investigation today.

CRITICISM AND THE POLICE.

Chief Beavers falls into the natural error of misinterpreting the present widespread criticism of the wave of petty thievery sweeping the city as a reflection upon the capacity and administration of his department. He should welcome and not resent the sort of comment that will arouse the people of Atlanta to the manner in which he is handicapped in protecting their lives and property. For the core of the whole trouble, as The Constitution has for years been trying to convince council and the people, is not inability in its police force, but disgraceful lack of men and facilities. The chief and his men are doing their best.

We have been struggling along for years with a force but little enlarged since Atlanta was one-third its present size. With the same old disreputable skinflint policy visible in other directions, we have practiced "economy" by compelling a relative corporal's guard of men to guard an ever-increasing territory. Steadily the city has grown in population, step by step it has absorbed larger boundaries—and the police force has remained almost stationary.

We are today reaping the inevitable consequence. When it is possible for six women in one day to be targets for as many purse-snatchers, it is time to wake up. When it is possible, from sheer lack of men to supervise and patrol the city, for yeggs and hold-ups to make the city their rendezvous and plotting place, it is time to strengthen the hands of the chief of police. Atlanta might have in that position a man with the cunning of Fouche and the ruthlessness of Napoleon. But he would be powerless against the wave of petty thievery unless he had a force reasonably large enough to cope with it.

The chief reasons from a false premise when he says that strictures upon the police have brought here a host of criminal vultures. Knowledge upon part of the criminal classes that Atlanta is insufficiently policed and that pickings here are easy has done the work. The reflection rests not upon the police of Atlanta, who are doing the best they can at terrific handicap, but upon the parsimony and the short sight of the city.

Criticism of these conditions is the one hope of remedying them, of extricating the chief and his men from the ambiguous position into which they are now thrust. If there were no criticism, the people of Atlanta would jump to the conclusion that the chief was amply supplied with facilities and men. They would then either fight any effort to increase the force or make "goats" of the men now serving them at so oppressive a disadvantage.

Increase the force to Atlanta's size! That is the remedy and the only one. And until that is done the city council and the people generally will have only themselves to blame if the city continues to suffer from thieves and yeggmen.

THE PEON PAYS.

Beneath the picturesque story of the flight of the federal Mexican army from the battlefield of Ojinaga into Texas is a strong note of pathos, and that is the pathos of the peon. For the motley horde that made up the host of Mercado was mostly recruited from the ranks of the peon, his family and his camp-followers. These people trailed over the border laden with their scant household goods, frequently one drooping burro being sufficient to transport the entire domestic effects of a large family.

It is the peon that has been paying and that still pays the ultimate debt for the anarchy and chaos that today takes the place of government in Mexico. He is levied upon by rebels and federals, constitutionalists and bandits alike. When some petty chieftain comes ravaging through isolated Mexican provinces, the peon has no alternative, save death, to joining the "colors." His little fields are laid waste, the pitiful accumulations of years are swept away by the first greedy "general" that musters enough followers to strike terror into opposition.

Uneducated, servile, hardly knowing the practical meaning of the word "liberty," in the name of which he is fighting, he has comprised the backbone of every large and little military movement recently launched in Mexico. When it is considered that this class composes the larger part of the Mexican population, the task awaiting those who would truly civilize the republic is seen in its formidable dimensions.

THE GEORGIA BANKERS.

Not in many years has there been a more remarkable assembling of the banking and financial interests of Georgia than that which took place in Atlanta yesterday in response to the invitation of the Atlanta Clearing House association. The meeting was given impetus by the presence of members of the Georgia Reserve association and the executive council of the Georgia Bankers' association. The manner in which the bankers of the whole state answered the invitation of the Atlanta clearing house is indication of the co-operation existing between the bankers of this state and the alertness of bankers to their duties and responsibilities under the new currency law.

Atlanta has witnessed many conventions of state bankers and of national bankers and of general deliberative bodies of financiers, but no such meeting as that of yesterday was ever held in Georgia before. The largest and the smallest towns were represented. The bankers of Atlanta had issued their invitations on the theory that the small country banker is, relatively, as important a link in the financial chain as the banker whose influence stretches over several counties or into surrounding states.

This meeting will mark an epoch in the commercial, industrial and financial history of Georgia. In their attitude toward each other and in the views they exchanged, the dominant financial agencies in Georgia showed they were a unit in prophesying a high degree of prosperity under the new currency law and in willingness to work hand in hand in order that the state at large might obtain the best results from it. The bankers unanimously and enthusiastically went on record as indorsing Atlanta as the logical location for the federal regional reserve bank for the southeast. The representative character of the meeting and the fact that its various members sustain financial relations with every part of the southeastern territory give conclusive point to the recommendation.

The address in which United States Senator Hoke Smith explained the purposes and operation of the new law was both interesting and valuable.

"A FAIR FREE-FOR-ALL."

In announcing his candidacy for the United States senate Roger C. Sullivan, of Illinois, coins a phrase that aptly summarizes the friendly and constructive attitude of the Wilson administration toward "big business." He declares that "the 'everybody-for-himself-and-devil-take-the-hindmost' policy has seen its best days. Life in this country is going to be made a fair free-for-all race."

And that is precisely the policy to which President Wilson has committed himself in the tentative outline of his forthcoming message, already submitted to congressional leaders and the public.

The old unwritten laws under which economic development has attained such proportions in America could not, under the farthest stretch of the imagination, be said to have provided a "fair free-for-all." Certainly the discriminatory tariff laws that prevailed until lately did not put all men and all industries upon an equal footing. The railroad practices of yesterday with their rebates and absence of uniformity in rates violated the same fundamental statutes. The ruthless crushing of small competitors in the industrial world is another instance. The concentration of credits in the hands of a comparatively few and the imposing of arbitrary qualifications as to who should and should not obtain credit and under what conditions, is another. The reasonable terms extended the average business man and the almost prohibitive terms extended the farmer in search of credit, is still another. Illustrations could be multiplied almost indefinitely.

What President Wilson has undertaken is nothing destructive, chaotic or malignant. He would simply repeal the artificial regulations that have gathered as so much fungus growth on our business structure and restore those ancient and tried customs that place all men upon a plane of approximate equality. That is seen in his desire that the disturbing "twilight zone" of the Sherman law may be dissipated; interlocking directorates made a thing of the past; the railroads protected from themselves and the demagogue by giving the interstate commerce commission power to supervise the issue of stocks and bonds; the prohibition of holdings companies; the creation of an interstate trade commerce with teeth.

These various features are not "radical," but are in line of logical evolution. That fact is attested in that great business interests all over the country are voluntarily complying with the government program, indicating that they recognize its soundness and justice.

By the time the president's pacificatory program is completed business and prosperity will, indeed, to quote his happy phrase, be "unleashed" from unjust and confining bonds. Equality of commercial opportunity will be a genuine entity and not a sounding stump epigram. We shall have a "free-for-all" rule of business conduct, under which there will be no penalty save upon inability, or upon lack of industry or honesty.

The Day in Blue.

I.

When the day decks itself in blue

With rain a-drippin' from

Gray trouble finds the

An' says: "Hello!
'Pears like I know
That face o' your'n from long ago!"

II.

'Tis then the tasks you left undone
Arise an' say: "How is it, son?"
The rent falls due—the mortgage, too,—
The sheriff sits 'longside o' you
An' says: "I know
You're mighty low,
But money makes the old mare go!"

III.

Good Lord, think on our earthly ways
An' send us more red letter days!
Or, when we strike a day of blue,
Give it a dash of silver, too!
We sadly view
So much of blue:
Long green and gold would help us through!

The Great Trials of History

TRIAL OF ROBERT EMMET.

Robert Emmet is a name that thrills every Irish heart at its mention, as well as every lover of personal or national liberty. Ireland was in a fevered state when Emmet was a young man at college. Together with other young patriots he belonged to a historical society where they led the political feeling toward the popular cause, and Emmet was expelled from the university for his connection with the association of United Irishmen.

The rising Emmet planned was abortive, but it was nevertheless sincere. Heading what he thought was a band of ardent, patriotic followers, an attempt was made to seize the arsenal and Dublin Castle. At the first volley fired by the troops ordered to disperse the mob, it gave way and Emmet's followers fled in all directions.

Emmet escaped and was in hiding among the Wicklow mountains. A safe opportunity offered itself for him to reach the continent, but his love for Sarah Curran was too strong to allow him to go without a farewell visit. He knew the danger of an appearance in Dublin, but he took the chance.

Emmet was arrested the moment he reached the city and was placed on trial for his life. The indictment that was made against him consisted of eighteen charges. This indictment was presented on Wednesday, September 14, 1803, before a special commission held at the Session House, Green street. The court then adjourned until Monday, September 19, when the prisoner was brought before the bar. The prosecuting attorney, an Irishman named O'Grady, made the opening speech to the attorney general and the jury. Following this speech, which was long, Mr. Joseph Rawlins, an attorney, was sworn and examined by the solicitor general. This witness was followed by many others, and when it was asked whether Emmet desired to present any witnesses in his defense, he replied that, under the circumstances it would be useless.

At the conclusion of the examinations Lord Norbury charged the jury, who, without quitting the box, returned a verdict of guilty. Emmet then being asked by the clerk of the crown whether he had anything to say why judgment should not be passed upon him, he arose and made that memorable vindication speech which is so familiar and one of the finest examples of its kind in our language:

"My Lords—What have I to say why sentence of death should not be pronounced on me, according to law? I have nothing to say that can alter your predetermination, or that it would become me to say, with any view to the mitigation of that sentence which you are here to pronounce, and which I must abide. . . .

"I wish my memory and name may animate those who survive me while I look down with complacency on the destruction of that perfidious government which upholds its domination by blasphemy of the Most High. . . .

"My lords, you are impatient for the sacrifice. The blood which you seek is not congealed by the artificial terrors which surround your victims; it circulates warmly and unruffled through the channels which God created for noble purposes, but which you are bent to destroy for purposes so grievous that they cry to heaven! I am going to my silent grave; my lamp of life is nearly extinguished; my race is run; the grave opens to receive me and I sink into its bosom.

"I have but one request to ask at my departure from this world; it is the charity of its silence. Let no man write my epitaph, for, as no one knowing my motives dares now vindicate them, let not prejudice or ignorance asperse them. Let them and me repose in obscurity and peace, and my tomb remain uninscribed until other times and other men can do justice to my character. When my country shall take her place among the nations of the earth—then, and not till then—let my epitaph be written."

Emmet's trial was a hasty one. Though few were there to plead for him, MacCarthy says: "No advocacy of either men or angels could by any possibility have stirred the hearts of those in authority for one who rebelled against the Union."

Emmet was sentenced to death on September 19, 1803, and the following morning he was hanged and according to the brutal custom of the time was then beheaded. For more than a century Robert Emmet's grave has not only awaited its epitaph, but also its discovery, for the body has been removed to some spot by personal friends who have never revealed its final resting place.

FAVORITE RECIPES OF DISTINGUISHED WOMEN

By MRS. SIDNEY ANDERSON,
Wife of Representative Anderson of Minnesota.

One of my favorite recipes of a delicious pudding which is made of cranberries after the following recipe:

Steamed Cranberry Pudding.

1 cup of sugar,
1 egg,
1 teaspoon of vanilla,
3 teaspoons baking powder,
4 tablespoons of butter,
¾ cup of cold water,
1½ cups of flour,
2 cups of cranberries.

Cream the butter and gradually add the sugar, beating it until it is very light. Then put in the egg, which has also been beaten very light, and add the water and the flavoring. Mix all together thoroughly. Stir in the flour, which should be sifted twice with the baking powder.

Butter a deep pan or bowl and into it pour a thin layer of the cake batter and then add a layer of the well-washed and dried berries. Then add another layer of the butter and another of the berries, and so on until the entire amount is used up. Steam one and one-half hours and serve with sauce.

While no doubt any of the pudding sauces would be good, I prefer the vanilla sauce which I make in this way:

Vanilla Sauce.

Mix together one tablespoon of flour and two cups of sugar. Add 1¼ cups of boiling water and a piece of butter the size of a walnut. Let this boil a few minutes and then take from the fire and add two teaspoons of vanilla.

A ROMANTIC ORIGIN GIVEN THE NAME OF "DIXIE"

(A few days ago Major Charles W. Hubner sent The Constitution a letter inquiring as to the origin of the term "Dixie." Solutions were asked for and the following is a very interesting one.)

Editor Constitution: "Why The South is Called Dixie." On the above subject "Moody's Magazine" for December has the following to say:

"A monograph in the 'London Financial Times' on the history of the old Citizens' Bank of Louisiana, at New Orleans, reveals the origin of the name 'Dixie Land'—the term applied now to all the southern states and preserved in the famous southern war song, 'Dixie.' Prior to the civil war the Citizens' Bank, having the power to issue paper notes, issued several millions of bills in denominations of $10 and $20, but preferably $10. The $10 bills were engraved in French with the French word Dix featured on their backs. The bills became known as 'Dixies,' and this money becoming popular, Louisiana was referred to as 'The Land of the Dixies,' or 'Dixie Land.' Eventually the term was so broadened as to apply to all the southern states.

"This Citizens' Bank had a romantic and picturesque career, peculiarly linked with the financial and political history of the south. It was organized in 1833, ceasing its existence on January 30, 1911, when the present Citizens' Bank & Trust company was formed to take its place. As early as 1836 the bank's credit throughout the world was so good that it sold an issue of $3,000,000 of its bonds to the banking house of Hope and company, Amsterdam, Holland. The bank was considered by the government at the end of 1837 as the strongest in the south and one of the best known in the United States.

Joined Confederacy.

"The Citizens' Bank allied its fortunes with the Confederacy when the war of 1861 broke out, and consequently suffered a long run of vicissitudes from which it emerged successfully. When General Butler took charge of New Orleans he issued orders to the bank to turn over to him all money and property in its possession belonging to any one who had aided the Confederacy. The bank paid $215,820 to him under the order. Later, at Butler's dictation, a further sum of $306,400 was contributed to the city. After this an additional sum of $37,000 was paid to Butler; then to General Banks, at Butler's dictation, $55,477, and later $111,485. On January 15, 1866, on General Canby's order, the bank turned over $1,000,000 in securities and charged them to profit and loss. In addition to these forced contributions, the Citizens' Bank gave to the Confederacy $250,000 April 15, 1861, loaned the Confederacy $325,000 in coin January 7, 1862, and paid the pay rolls of some divisions of the Confederate army to a total of $50,000. Yet the bank withstood all these losses and outlived it, sold charter and gave up only when the authorities would not renew its charter on account of the usually liberal features of this instrument."

In my opinion this is the only reasonable and satisfactory explanation ever given on this subject.

C. M. KILLIAN.

Valdosta, Ga.

Good for Georgia.

(From The Houston Post.)

Georgia has afforded an object lesson that ought not to be lost upon the people of the southern states. Several weeks ago three negroes murdered a white woman in Jefferson county of that state. They were captured by the officers and desperate efforts were made by a mob to lynch them, but the officers succeeded in getting their prisoners away and took them to Atlanta.

Under the Georgia law, a judge has the authority to change the venue upon his own motion in such cases, and the judge of the district in which the crime was committed promptly changed the venue to Fulton county, of which Atlanta is the county seat.

These negroes have been tried. They were defended by able counsel, and all their rights were observed. The jury convicted them and they were sentenced to death. Thus the majesty of the law has been vindicated and the honor of the state has been maintained. Thus the virtue of the venue-changing statute of Georgia has been vindicated again, as it was not long ago in another district.

In the latter case, a woman had been assaulted and a suspect was carried before her for identification, and in the excitement under which she labored she identified the man as her assailant. Both the judge and the sheriff had their doubts, and the prisoner was rushed to Atlanta for safekeeping. A few days later, the victim of the assault was taken to Atlanta to look at the prisoner again. This time she fully exonerated him, and later positively identified another man, who was in due course tried and hanged for the crime.

But for the venue-changing statute an innocent man would have been lynched for this crime and the guilty man would have escaped.

That is one of the fatal weaknesses of mob law. It frequently fails to establish the guilt of a suspect in its clutches. There have been scores of innocent negroes put to death in this way, which means that scores of guilty men have escaped the consequences of their crimes.

A mob is in no frame of mind to determine the guilt or innocence of a negro suspected of crime. It is wild with passion and hungry for vengeance and in such moments no consideration of justice appeals. It is for that reason that civilization has established tribunals to ascertain the facts where men are charged with crime and to mete out punishment to the guilty as provided by law.

A mob can do nothing to a criminal that the courts can not or will not do, but it can murder the innocent which courts have seldom done.

Mob law has injured and shamed southern civilization long enough, and it is to be hoped we have reached the period when we shall hear no more of it.

The Bishop's Joke.

(From the Indianapolis News.

Humor is a dangerous diversion for a clergyman among Englishmen. Bishop Ingram, speaking recently in London at a meeting of men, remarked that, although he was unmarried and fifty-three, he would "take on" any of them with any game they liked. This jocular challenge probably sprouted from the numerous discomfitures in all kinds of athletics, including boxing, which have greatly jarred all England. The good bishop gave his challenge unaccompanied by any diagram. So a gallant British colonel, Ommanney, writes that he is in his fifty-fifth year and married, and will be pleased to take the bishop on at any three games of his own choosing if he will meet the colonel at three games of the colonel's choosing, a total of six games. And then, after all of Great Britain and Ireland had become greatly excited in anticipation of some real sport, the bishop has made declaration that his remarks were intended "as a joke."

As over leaves of ethereal sheen
Goes smiling on her way—
But veils her face with subtle grace

As ladies in waiting unto the Queen,
The host of little stars,
Through miles of sky, their faces seen
Beyond the purple bars—
Each star a beam in the silvered gleam
Of Queen of all the stars.

As Gypsies wandering over the sky,
Gypsying down the ages,
They pass the world-wide pageants by,
Unknown to hoary sages—
Celestial Tribe, Earth cannot bribe
With her worldly wages.

With them to follow a trackless trail
Far on across the skies—
To some bright sphere beyond the veil
And starry boundaries—
Like Gypsies so, I long to go Into Moon-Mysteries!

My one most wished-for boon,
'Twould never be for fame or show,
Or for fabled "golden spoon"—
But a lady vain in the starry train
Waiting on the Gypsy Moon!

Efficient Housekeeping

By HENRIETTA D. GRAUEL,
Domestic Science Lecturer.

UNSIGHTLY MARKS.

One of the most unsightly marks to the eyes of a careful housekeeper is that made by matches on painted and varnished surfaces. These can sometimes be removed by scrubbing with a stiff brush and soap powder. They can also be prevented in this way: Get five cents worth of liquid vaseline (this is called alboline by chemists) and with it go over the surface liable to match-scratcher vandals. Wait a few minutes, then rub the oil in and wipe it off with a fresh dry flannel.

The hired girl and the boarders can scratch matches there all their spare time and they will not get a light nor make a mark.

Papier mache and lacquered goods must not be washed or cleaned with ordinary methods, but they respond quickly and brilliantly to a thorough rubbing with a paste made with olive oil and wheat flour. Apply with a chamois or polishing velvet and rub up with an old silk handkerchief.

Ink stains on silver inkstands cannot be taken off with soap as the alkali sets the acid so they frequently become very unsightly. These spots readily yield to a paste of water and chloride of lime. Javelle water will also take them off.

Silver cleaning is a delicate piece of work that mistresses do not like to relegate to servants and hesitate to do themselves. Whether polishing is really necessary can be determined by boiling the silverware a few minutes—five should be enough—in strong soap suds. Pour the solution off into a basin and let the silver cool until it can be handled. With a soft brush scrub the silver, using the hot suds it boiled in. Rinse in scalding water and lay on soft paper or cloth to dry. This will take off almost all spots without damaging or wearing off the silver as polishing powders do. Examine each piece and if there are obstinate spots remaining rub each one with a silver chamois.

That salt will clean silver is an oft repeated fallacy; salt will remove egg and other sulphur stains, but it does not polish.

White spots on dining tables and highly varnished furniture can be removed in less than a moment with a cloth moistened with alcohol. But beware, unless you rub gently and quickly remove the alcohol not only the offending spot will be taken off, but the varnish beneath as well. If you are afraid to use alcohol for this, heat an iron moderately hot and hold it well above the white mark. It will draw it out almost as well as the alcohol.

Grease spots from silk hangings can be removed by pressing them between two sheets of blotting paper and running a hot iron across the spot.

A fabric cleaner better than soap and water is equal parts of powdered soap bark and borax mixed with as much ox-gall as will equal the quantity of the above ingredients. Add chipped yellow soap and hot water to this and boil until the mixture is strong and dark and the soap dissolved. Strain and keep for use.

WAY STATIONS.

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

Your Life, after all, is but a complete Journey between two great Stations. The first is Birth, the last is Death. But between are the Way Stations. What you represent in Character and Success accumulates at your stops at the Way Stations.

You Select your own Way Stations.

The thing that is going to tell with you, in the final summing up, as to the total value of your trip through this world, is the Judgment and Courage and Energy and Foresight and Use that you make of what you have and are—while you stay at your Way Stations.

You Select your own Way Stations.

The Way Stations that line every Railroad look dreary and lonely enough. But they make up the Backbone of the great Railroad System! Grant as Clerk at a county store, Edison as Newsboy on a train, Garfield as Tow Boy, pictured alone, look ordinary and commonplace. But it was work honestly and earnestly performed at these unpoetic Way Stations that finally linked them to Greatness.

You Select your own Way Stations.

You are at this moment at one of your Way Stations. Are you making your work there Count? Are you getting the last ounce of Value from your present Way Station? Remember—if you fail where you are, someone is going to come along and get what you failed to get—and from territory that you are able now to Master. Get the Most from each one of your Way Stations.

An Extreme Case.

Prison Commission Appoints Convict Wardens, County Boards Pay Them. Hence Constant Friction.

Every one has heard of the famous conflict in English history between king and parliament over the power of the purse, which ended finally with one unfortunate king's losing his head. But even this age-long controversy yields nothing in interest to the periodical strife which goes on between the state prison commission and the boards of county commissioners of some of the counties.

The latest development in these perennial squabbles was brought to the attention of the commission Monday when notice was received that one of the guards of the Floyd county convict camp, who had been fired by the county warden, backed up by the prison commission, had been put back on the job by the Floyd county board of commissioners.

The guard in question, it is claimed, had negligently left his gun where the convicts could have secured possession of it. He repeated this offense several times, it is said, notwithstanding the warning received from the warden, who at last discharged him.

How Fiction Arises.

Most of the friction between the county boards and the prison commission comes about in this way. The wardens of the county camps, as well as the physicians and the subordinate employees, receive their places from the prison commission and are responsible to that body for the proper performance of their duties. But their salaries are paid by the county commissioners, and it is to these that they must look for the means of subsistence.

Not long ago the county board of Walton county became disgruntled with the county warden, H. K. Hensler, and asked the prison commission to remove him. Feeling that Hensler was one of the best men in charge of convicts, as well as one of the best road men in the state, the commission declined to remove him. The board of county commissioners promptly met and fixed his salary at $10 per month, when he found it necessary, of course, to resign.

Since that time Mr. Hensler has received better positions, first as warden of the convicts of DeKalb county and later of Newton, which last position he still retains.

Salary Cut to $5 a Month.

In Lowndes county the board of county commissioners were not pleased with the convict camp physician. However, as the prison board backed him up, they could not dismiss him. So they met and fixed his salary at $5 a month, which amounted to the same thing as if he had been discharged.

Chairman R. E. Davison, of the prison commission, thinks that the law is defective and should be amended so as to eliminate all possibility of friction between the state board and the county officials.

"The law has placed upon our board responsibility for the care of the convicts throughout the state," said Captain Davison, "and it necessarily follows that we should have the appointment of the various wardens and that they should be responsible to our board. While the law has given us this power, the boards of county commissioners have found little difficulty in nullifying the law by withholding salaries or reducing them to purely nominal sums. The state law should fix the amount of these men's salaries, a minimum amount as well as a maximum, so that it would be impossible for county boards to change it."

ALLEGED HIGHWAYMAN PUT UNDER $1,000 BOND

His head and face marked by ugly gashes, Sam Davis, a hold-up victim, appeared in police court yesterday afternoon to prosecute Ezra Brown, an alleged highwayman accused of committing a daring daylight robbery in front of the Atlanta telephone exchange Sunday afternoon.

Davis stated that he was walking up Gilmer street from Ivy about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when Brown accosted him, striking him in the face with a stone and knocking him almost insensible, relieving his pockets of $14 contained in a leather wallet.

A number of witnesses testified to having seen the alleged hold-up as they walked up Gilmer street. Brown was chased by a number of men up Ivy street to Decatur, where he ran into a lodging house at No. 82½ Decatur, in which he was captured by Policeman Baker and Detectives Webb and Harper. He denied in court that he had held up his prosecutor.

He was bound over, however, under bond of $1,000 on charges of assault and battery and highway robbery.

JOWL AND COLLARDS ARE GOOD MEDICINE, DECLARES TILLMAN

Washington, January 19.—Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, attributes his good health to the eating of "jowl" and "collards."

He has just let out the secret to his associates at the capitol.

The senator returned recently from his holiday vacation in South Carolina more robust than for years. He is now rapidly recovering from a slight attack of erysipelas.

"Jowl and collards," said Senator Tillman when asked the reason for his improved health. "When I went down home for the holidays, I cast off the harness of self-imposed dietary rules and reveled to my heart's content in jowl and collards.

"I presume this is what caused me to pick up flesh. But I am reasonable, and when I returned I resumed my dieting, because I consider that it is not wise to overdo 'the new freedom.'"

TEAM TRACKS OPENED TO GENERAL PUBLIC

R. R. Commission Fixes Compensation at $2 a Car Plus Usual Switching Charges.

Following an order issued some time ago by the Michigan railroad commission, the railroad commission of Georgia has just amended one of its freight rules so as to require common carriers to transfer loaded cars to and from any public team track, when destined for or received from a connecting carrier. A charge of $2 per car, in addition to the regular switching charge, will be allowed for such transfer. The amended rule is made effective March 1.

This ruling, it is believed, will end the well-known "team track" controversy which has been pending before the commission for two years, and will prove a great convenience to shippers.

Inasmuch as the supreme court of the United States has just handed down a decision backing up the position taken by the Michigan commission, members of the Georgia commission feel that their rule will be able to withstand any attack on its validity from a legal standpoint.

At every important terminal each railroad has certain tracks set aside for the use of its own patrons in loading and unloading carload lots of freight. The carriers have contended that these team tracks are analogous to their freight depots through which less than carload lots of freight are handled, and, therefore, should not be open to shippers over another road for the convenient placing of cars to be loaded or unloaded, the road owning not having received a regular line transportation of the goods.

The opening of team tracks to general use by the shipping public will prove a great convenience. The railroad commission believes it has prescribed a just and reasonable rate of compensation in the charges allowed in its new rules, and in so doing has met the condition laid down by the supreme court, that fair compensation for the use of the team tracks of one carrier by a connecting carrier should be allowed.

Only Three Out of 300 Automobiles in Athens Have State Tag on Them

Athens, Ga., January 19.—(Special.) Twenty-one defendants—doctors, lawyers, insurance men, farmers, merchants, and garage men answered to charges before the recorded Saturday afternoon for violating a new city automobile ordinance which requires a light on the head and tail of every car left standing in any street. Last night the canvass of the streets found only one machine without a light and the owner was a non-resident and a transient.

It is said that only three of the more than three hundred cars in Athens have paid their special state tax under the new law.

TO EXAMINE AUTHORS ON TEXTBOOK COSTS

Several authors of textbooks which were adopted for use in the public schools of the state last November will appear before the legislature textbook commission in Superintendent M. L. Brittain's office tomorrow to give expert testimony regarding the editing, publication and other items of actual cost of the books.

Those who have been summoned are C. F. Hunnicutt, of Atlanta; Lawton B. Evans, of Augusta; P. F. Brown, S. V. Sanford and R. P. Brooks, of Athens. It is expected that most of the time of this meeting of the commission, sometimes known as the McCrory commission, although Mr. Brittain is chairman, will be taken up with a thorough probe of the cost of textbooks as compared with the cost in Ontario, where the books are published by the province.

Since the last meeting of the commission Senator B. S. Miller, of the twenty-fourth district, has resigned and his place has been filled by Senator J. T. Peyton, of the thirty-second.

YOUNG MAN CONVICTED OF BLACKMAILING GIRL

Salt Lake City, Utah, January 19.—W. L. Cummings, 23 years old, pleaded guilty in the federal district court here today and was sentenced to three years' imprisonment for attempting to blackmail Miss Dorothy Bamberger, a wealthy society girl.

Cummings threatened to kill Miss Bamberger with an infernal machine of his own invention, which could be exploded at a distance by the use of a wireless attachment. Tests of his machine proved that it could do all that Cummings had threatened. The court showed leniency because the evidence indicated he had been the tool of others who have not been caught.

ENFORCE THE LAW, URGES DR. DUBOSE

Locker Clubs Assailed in Sensational Communication Sent to Council by Law Enforcement Committee.

The first attack on Atlanta's locker clubs was made in council yesterday when the Law Enforcement committee, through H. M. DuBose, chairman, sent a sensational communication urging a strict enforcement of city ordinances and state liquor laws in 1914.

The communication was sent to the police committee. Chairman A. R. Colcord stated yesterday that the committee will be called to meet some time during the week. He denied that the meeting will be called particularly for the purpose of taking up the Law Enforcement committee communication.

It is charged in the communication that "a law solemnly enacted by the commonwealth is being contemptuously fluted and systematically violated by a confraternity of men who regard themselves as superior to the law."

Urges Enforcement of Law.

The committee demands that no locker club be licensed in 1914 unless it fully complies with the law, and that no licenses be granted to clubs convicted of violating either the state or city laws. The committee also demands that some action be taken so that a violation of the law will act as a revocation of licenses.

Members of council made no comment on the communication.

Mayor Woodward's vetoes of the ordinance granting a franchise to the Georgia Railway and Power company to operate a car track on Butler street, between Gilmer and Decatur, and the resolutions increasing the salaries of Tax Assessor Malone, City Electrician Turner and Stockade Superintendent Lanford, were tabled by consent. This action practically amounts to the mayor being sustained.

Mayor Woodward took the position that the salaries of the three officers were increased in 1914, and, therefore, illegally. According to a ruling of City Attorney Mayson, salaries of officers must be increased the year prior to the time they are elected.

The resignation of John J. Woodside as a member of the water board from the sixth ward was received. Commissioner Woodside leaves the board because he removed from the ward.

The appointments of George Beauchamp, chief clerk, and Sledge Collier as tax investigator were approved by council. Other appointments to the clerical force of the tax office were adopted.

Pleads for Teachers.

Alderman Jesse Armistead offered a resolution urging council to make the increase to the salaries of the school teachers effective January 1 instead of September. Alderman Armistead made a strong appeal for the teachers. He said that he saw no reason why the teachers should be made to wait until September, inasmuch as the precedent had been set in other instances.

The resolution was referred to the finance committee, because if it is adopted provision will have to be made in the finance sheet to meet the payroll from January to September.

C. G. Hannah was elected a member of the park board to succeed J. O. Cochran in the tenth ward. Mr. Cochran retired while he was president of the board. He is now connected with the investigating department of the city attorney's office.

PRESIDENT'S POWER GREATER THAN KING

Hooper Alexander Tells How Federal Government Has Secured Complete Control of the People.

That the United States has become the most powerful nation on earth in its sovereignty and control over the own people, through the gradual centralization of power in the federal government at Washington, was the striking statement made by United States District Attorney Hooper Alexander as the climax of an address he delivered Monday afternoon at the Robert E. Lee exercises held in the Atlanta Law school.

"The king of England is an obscure puppet compared with the president of the United States and the power now vested in his hands," said Mr. Alexander. "Neither the emperor of Germany nor the czar of Russia can exert such far-reaching power over his realm as congress does over the people of America today. In fact, there is no nation on the globe in which the central government has acquired such power and dominion over its subjects as our federal government now possesses."

The district attorney, together with Hamilton Douglas, dean of the Atlanta Law school, spoke Monday before the seventy-five young men who are students at the school in eulogy of General Robert E. Lee, both as patriot and gentleman. The exercises were in commemoration of Lee's birthday—January 19—the usual recitations being suspended for the day.

War Only a Part of Plot.

Taking as the main theme of his address the causes of secession and the principles for which the north and south respectively fought, Mr. Alexander declared that the original issue of "states' rights" was lost sight of in the discussion which arose over slavery. He said that partisan feeling intensified the differences and made the people of the north forget the legality of the states' rights argument which was the main contention of the south.

He charged that the declaration of war by the north, in refusing to let the south secede, was merely a part of a gigantic plot by politicians in power, who knew that in the reconstruction following the war the economic laws of the nation would be in their power and who, with others, plotted to mold the laws during this period so as to give capital a strangle-hold upon the people of the country. How well their scheme succeeded was demonstrated by the fourteenth amendment to the constitution and the other epoch-making laws passed during the reconstruction, which paved the way for the intense centralization of power in the federal government and the strongholds occupied by capital now, said Mr. Alexander.

Lee Divine in Defeat.

Hamilton Douglas, in his address directly following the district attorney, paid glowing tribute to Lee as "the hero of Appomattox, matchless in strategy, temperate in victory and divine in defeat."

"Though faced with tremendous odds and the highest military skill, Lee was never out-generaled in strategy," said Mr. Douglas. "Though advancing in years, full of vigor from a well-spent life, he never did miscalculate toward the end in the game of war, as did the great Napoleon, degenerated by luxury.

"But great as was Lee in battle, in all other relations that he bore to man and God he was infinitely greater. He stands uniquely out in history as combining magnificent military ability with utmost courtesy and tenderness, as blending military genius with incorruptible integrity and every trait that marks the ideal moral hero, the superb Christian gentleman."

Atlanta, Ga., April 24, 1913.—"My face was covered with pimples which defied creams, soaps and cosmetics. They were a source of constant humiliation to me, coming in contact with many strangers as I do, as a business woman.

"Since then I have been using Resinol Soap and shall never be without it again, for I have learned the delights of a clear, soft, beautiful complexion that may be attained by its constant use." (Signed) Miss E. P. Gaddis, 284 South Pryor St.

VETERANS OF ATLANTA PAY TRIBUTE TO LEE

Touching Exercises Held in the State Capitol—Address by James L. Mayson.

In a way befitting the memory of the great leader, the 107th anniversary of the birthday of Robert E. Lee was celebrated by Atlanta camp, No. 159, U. C. V., Monday. The veterans, together with the members of the Daughters of the Confederacy and the Ladies' Memorial society, met in the hall of the house of representatives at the state capitol at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Thomas J. Buchanan, camp commandant, acted as chairman, and City Attorney James L. Mayson delivered the address of the occasion. Mr. Mayson paid a high tribute to Lee, showing how the southern general had been universally accorded by the voice of unbiased history first place among the military leaders developed by the civil war. His greatness was shown not only in his marvelous strategy, which led so often to victory, and in the splendid temper which he showed in defeat, but to an even greater extent in the everlasting hold which laid upon the affections of his followers.

A touching poem entitled "Lee at Derwent" was read by Colonel O. D. Gorman, one of the veterans.

Crosses of honor were delivered by the Daughters of the Confederacy to the following: Mrs. Margaret B. Arnold, W. M. Camp, William Beall, E. B. Chapman, J. G. Ellison, J. L. Elder, W. F. Groover, Robert McClure, Z. M. James, G. W. Johnson, J. A. Lasseter, Mrs. Margaret J. Hampton, M. A. Herndon, Julian V. Pitt, John Curtis, H. H. McLean, W. Merritt and Mrs. W. M. Jenkins.

Music was furnished by Wurm's orchestra and soloists of the Daughters of the Confederacy.

WOULD SIT DOWN; COULDN'T GET UP

And This Lady Would Do a Little Work and Have to Go to Bed for an Hour.

Columbia, Tenn.—Mrs. Jessie Sharp, of this town, says: "I was a sufferer from womanly troubles for five years, and it got me down so, I could not do any of my work. Would have to lie in bed nearly all the time. When I would sit down, couldn't get up, without pulling at something to help me.

I would do a little work, and have to go to bed for an hour.

I would have those awful trembly spells, and a swimming in my head. I surely felt that I had rather be dead, than be in my condition.

I finally wrote to the Ladies' Advisory Department, of the Chattanooga Medicine Co., and they advised me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, for my troubles. I did and now I am sound and well of all my troubles. The second bottle helped me so much, that I didn't have to go to bed any more.

I certainly feel that Cardui is worth its weight in gold to every suffering woman."

If you, lady reader, suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, try Cardui.

For more than 50 years, Cardui has been used with entire satisfaction, by hundreds of thousands of weak and ailing women. It will surely help you, too.

Famous For Her Hair

Actress Tells How She Grew It.

Madame Rose, the well-known actress who played on one of the leading vaudeville circuits the past winter and who is especially noted for her long, beautiful hair, in a recent interview in Chicago, made the following statement: "Any lady or gentleman can promote the growth of their hair and make it soft and glossy with this simple recipe which they can mix at home. To a half pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ oz. of glycerine. Apply to the scalp two or three times a week with the finger tips. This is not only the finest hair grower I have ever known, but it prevents the hair from falling out, removes dandruff and scalp humors, darkens streaked, faded gray hair and makes it soft and glossy. The ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost."

DIVORCE MILL REVEALS DOMESTIC TRAGEDIES

Child Wife Advises Girls Not to Marry—Husband Objects to 10-Cent Allowance.

The divorce court held this session under Judge Pendleton has already turned up readable tips to nearly-weds and has laid bare many domestic tragedies.

On Monday, one man, suing for a divorce and charging his wife with desertion, said his spouse told him to go to h— and take his money with him.

Judge Pendleton asked if he "followed his wife's wishes in the matter." The plaintiff averred that he did not.

Another plaintiff, a woman, declared that her husband stated that he would pay her $5 for every week she stayed away from him. She said she received but $5, and that she has now been separated from her husband for over a year.

The usual child-wife divorce made its appearance in court when Mrs. Audrey Stephens, who recently appeared here with a local stock company, asked a total divorce from her actor-husband who, she claimed, beat her, was too friendly with other women and misbehaved generally. The divorce was granted by the jury.

Afterward Mrs. Stephens stated that no girl should marry before she was 20 years of age. Mrs. Stephens was 13 years old when she became the wife of the local actor.

C. H. Garrison said that when he married his wife put him on an allowance of 10 cents a day. He failed to stand up under the shock. The man stated that his wife left him after they had been married some time, when he objected to the stipend which he was allowed daily.

Lucile Watts said her husband drank and used drugs and that while under the influence of such drugs would abuse her. She was granted a divorce.

Tuesday morning the divorce mill will continue to grind and before night it is believed that one-half of the calendar will have been cleared up.

Wife Will Not Appear Against Her Husband And Alleged Affinity

According to all indications, Mrs. J. W. Foster, wife of the minister arrested with his affinity, Mrs. J. W. Deane, last Saturday night, will not appear against her husband when he is arraigned before Recorder Broyles this morning at 8:30 o'clock.

The police say she has ignored all attempts to summon her as a witness, and has openly declared that she will take no hand in the trial. It is stated by friends of both the wife and "soulmate" that the family of the preacher were aware of his relations with Mrs. Deane.

Upon being released from prison Saturday night, Mr. Foster went to his home, 586 Gordon street, where his wife resides, and spent the night. The children, it was said, welcomed him, and stand loyally by him. Foster, it is reported, will sue for divorce. This is also declared by Mrs. Deane in a statement Saturday night to a Constitution reporter.

Mrs. Deane has not been at her apartments since the arrests, and efforts to locate her have proved fruitless. She is said, however, to be awaiting trial in the home of friends in the city.

COMPTROLLER WRIGHT PASSES 70TH BIRTHDAY

In addition to being the birthday of General Robert E. Lee, Monday was also the anniversary of the birth of one of the state's most valued public servants. This was none other than General William A. Wright, insurance commissioner and comptroller general. General Wright passed his seventieth milestone Monday.

Thirty-four years of this time, or nearly half of the general's life, has been passed in the service of the state. During all of this long period of service General Wright has never been opposed for office. Governors have come and gone their ways, other statehouse officials have known the bitterness of defeat, but the comptroller general has filled his place so well and has been so highly regarded by the people whom he served that no one has even had the audacity to run against him.

The general spent the day quietly at his home, it being a legal holiday, receiving the congratulations of his friends who happened to know that he was 70 years old.

DR. DUNBAR ROY HEADS GEORGIA COMMITTEE

Dr. Dunbar Roy, of Atlanta, has been appointed chairman of the Georgia state lecture bureau of the American Medical association to arrange lectures in Georgia cities upon the subject of "Vision Conservation."

Dr. Roy is now organizing a large committee of physicians throughout the state who will lecture in the towns and cities in their respective territories upon the matter of the proper care of the eyes.

This work is purely a humanitarian movement on the part of the physicians and specialists of the state, and their work will be without financial remuneration.

Herman Bleim Better.

Herman Bleim, well-known Atlantan, one of the city's pioneer restauranters, who has been seriously ill for more than a month at his home, 132 Hill street, is now convalescing nicely, and may be able, his physicians and nurses think, to leave his sick room within the next week, though it may be a month before he will be able to come into the city to be greeted by his friends.

Almond in Bankruptcy.

Saying his obligations aggregate $988.42, and that his assets will muster $399.37, Arthur Irwin Almond, resident of Atlanta, a clerk, yesterday filed with the clerk of the United States court a voluntary petition in bankruptcy.

HOW SHIPS WILL SAVE MONEY BY USING OUR CANAL

When a ship of the dimensions of the ordinary vessel tahat now carries tourists to the canal zone goes through the Panama canal, the gate keeper will demand his toll, and the captain will have to pay over to him some five thousand dollars. A ship such as the average transatlantic liners would have to put up about $20,000 dollars for going through the canal.

And yet it will be a great advantage to ships to go the canal way rather than to go around the horn or through the Straits of Magellan. It costs a ship ten cents a net registered ton a day to maintain itself on the high seas, so that for every extra day a ship of 10,000 tons sails the seas the cost is a thousand dollars. Making 300 knots a day a ship would require some twenty-five extra days at sea by Magellan over Panama, and thus a 10,000-ton ship would save $15,000 by paying a $10,000 dollar toll gate fee at Panama.

This is the way Frederic J. Haskin gets down to brass tacks in telling his readers the hows, the whys, and the wherefores of the Panama canal, and why his book on the canal is breaking the world's record in the number distributed. The Atlanta Constitution is the distributor for this city, because it wants every subscriber to know all about our great achievement at Panama. It cannot afford to give the book away, so it does the next best thing—brings it to its readers at cost. Save your coupons.

WOMAN IS BOUND OVER ON GAMBLING CHARGE

Mrs. J. L. Rushing and Jake Goldberg Put Under Bonds of $1,000.

Mrs. J. L. Rushing, the handsomely dressed young woman captured by the police in a raid upon an alleged gambling resort at 31 East Fair street last Sunday night, was arraigned before Recorder Broyles Monday afternoon and bound over for operating a gambling resort.

Jake Goldberg, an occupant of the residence at No. 31, was also bound over on the same charge. Bond of $1,000 each was assessed. Six others of the alleged gamesters were dismissed, while the remaining number waived preliminary hearing and were bound over under bond of $200 each.

Mrs. Rushing would make no statement. She appeared in court clad in expensive furs and with many rings adorning her fingers. She is a flashing-eyed brunette, and attracted wide attention throughout the crowded courtroom. Her bond was made shortly after trial.

Those whose charges were dismissed were Dave Silverman, P. A. Callahan, P. M. Morris, Baker Brown, J. O. Knopf and R. H. Roberts. Preliminary hearing was waived by Abe Folsemberg, Louis Goldstein, I. Price, Sam J. Marshkel, C. Bresler and M. Jacobs. Their trials will be heard before the superior court at an early date.

Mrs. Emma Rivers, the pretty young trained nurse who was also arrested in the raid, was freed by the recorder. She had been held only as a material witness.

DUNCAN IS LEADER IN STROKE ANALYSIS

New York, January 19.—In a stroke analysis of leading English and American professional golfers for the season of 1913, George Duncan leads with an average of 75.

Seven prominent tournaments were selected as the basis of the summary. Duncan played in five tournaments for a total of ten rounds and 75 strokes.

Edward Ray was second, with three tournaments for a total of 716 strokes in ten rounds for an average of 76.1.

J. H. Taylor is rated third, with an average of 76.6 for five tournaments of fourteen rounds and 1,073 strokes.

Harry Vardon required 769 strokes in four tournaments of ten rounds, for an average of 76.9.

J. J. McDermott, in the English and American open championships, took 623 strokes in eight rounds, giving him an average of 77.8.

Harry Payne Whitney Gave Devereaux Milburn Some Ponies as Wedding Gift

New York, January 19.—When Devereaux Milburn was married last month, Harry Payne Whitney gave the peerless polo back several of his best ponies. Just how many ponies were included in the gift has not yet been learned, but it is presumed that the four are included which Milburn rode in the 1913 international matches, and which he probably will use in the matches next June if he is a member of the American team.

Whitney, who owns about twenty-five polo ponies, will not give up his string, but will keep the ponies ready so as to have them at hand if he cares to take part in any of the games for the championship cups at Narragansett Pier.

Poloists are of the opinion that Foxhall Keene will be selected as a member of the cup team. Keene has been anxious to play in the international matches for years. The fact that he was appointed captain of the substitute team for the big four team last year, and that the team was disrupted and the big four put in the saddle after Keene had broken his collarbone, gives color to the story that he will take part in the international matches this year. He has recovered from his injury and will start practice as soon as the preliminary games open.

"STORIES ABOUT STARS"

Humorous and Serious Tales of the Ball Field

Number 7.

By Billy Evans.

Did you ever hear of an umpire being removed and allowed to act as pinch hitter? No? Well, that is just what happened in the Coast league several years ago. It isn't often that such a thing happens in one of the fast leagues.

Sacramento and Los Angeles were the contesting teams. These two clubs, always great rivals, were scheduled for a long series. It so happened that the umpire didn't show up for the opening game. After efforts to secure an official had failed, it was decided to contest with two players officiating. Elmer Stricklett, of spitball fame, was the Sacramento player selected to do part of the umpiring.

The game was a hotly contested affair. Despite the closeness of the score the two player umpires managed to get along in fine style. In the eighth inning, with the score a tie, a situation arose where a hit meant a run and possibly the game. Sacramento had a man on third and two out, with Cutter, the pitcher up. Now Cutter was a very ordinary hitter, while Stricklett was reckoned as a mighty good man with the bat.

The game was halted momentarily, and Stricklett, who was umpiring balls and strikes, was called to the Sacramento bench. He was told to go to bat for Cutter, while Cutter, the pitcher, was told to assume Stricklett's duties as umpire. The Los Angeles team protested for a time, but the Sacramento manager insisted there was nothing to prevent him from using one of his regular players, even if he was acting as umpire. The game was resumed, Pitcher Cutter, who should have batted, now acting as umpire, announced to the crowd that Stricklett, who had been umpiring, would bat for Cutter. It was, indeed, a unique situation. To thicken the plot Stricklett came through with a safe hit that won the game. It is one of the few cases in baseball where a hit by the umpire decided the result of the game.

PREP LEAGUE FIVES START SECOND WEEK

Three Games Scheduled for Today and Three for Friday.

The Atlanta prep school basketball league will start its second week of games this afternoon. Three games will be played this afternoon and three on Friday.

The league race is, and promises to be throughout, a mighty pretty one, with three teams seeming a trifle stronger than the other four, but there is so little difference between any of the teams that the outcome of the pennant race is doubtful.

One thing is certain, every time that a game is scheduled, the basketball fans that attend can see a good game as there have not been any run away games so far.

The games scheduled for this afternoon are as follows:

Tech High School at Georgia Military Academy.

Donald Fraser at Marist College.

Peacock Fleet at Stone Mountain.

FEDERALS OFFER CLARK $6,000 A YEAR SALARY

New York, January 19.—Thomas Clark, catcher for the Cincinnati National league baseball team, today received a telegram at his home on Long Island asking him to start for Buffalo at once to talk terms with Manager Schlafly, of the Federal league team of that city. Six thousand dollars for the season was the salary offered, Clark said.

He added that he had refused to sign with Cincinnati thus far because the Reds had not met his demand for $6,000 salary. Clark intimated that he might go to Buffalo to talk matters over, but said he was in no hurry to sign with anyone.

Cincinnati, Ohio, January 19.—President August Herrmann, of the Cincinnati National league club, said he had received no demand from Thomas Clark for $6,000 for the coming season.

"I have received no such demand from Clark and further do not care to discuss the Federal league," said Mr. Herrmann.

Dauss and Baumann Sign.

Detroit, Mich., January 19.—The signed contracts of George Dauss, pitcher, and Paddy Baumann, second baseman, have been received by the Detroit American league Baseball club, according to official announcement today. It was also stated the club had been informed that Shortstop Owen Bush had mailed his signed contract from Indianapolis. Federal league offers had been made to the three players.

The Detroit club also received today the signed contract of Pitcher Miles Main, drafted from the Buffalo International league team. It was announced tonight the club will leave for Gulfport, Miss., for spring training February 28.

Zimmerman Gets $7,000.

Chicago, January 19.—Henry Zimmerman today signed a three-year contract at an annual salary of $7,000 to play third base for the Chicago National league club. The new contract is for the seasons of 1915-16-17, his present contract holding over the coming season. The terms were not announced, but were given out by a friend of Zimmerman.

Joe Lake to Federals.

New York, January 19.—Joe Lake, of Brooklyn, a pitcher of the Detroit American league club, has signed to play with the Baltimore team of the Federal league, according to a report published here today.

RAISING THE FUNDS FOR OLYMPIC TEAM

New York, January 19.—The initial move in the campaign to collect funds for the American Olympic team of 1916 was made today when Secretary James E. Sullivan, of the Amateur Athletic Union, issued a mail vote on the proposition to give $2,000 of the union's funds to the American Olympic committee.

In addition the individual clubs of the union will be requested to subscribe direct to the Olympic team fund pledging a given sum to the Olympic committee treasurer, Julian Curtis, to be paid in full or in installments, as may be convenient.

This early activity following directly upon the refusal of the German imperiol authorities to donate $50,000 to the German committee and the failure of the British Olympic fund, is taken as an indication that the United States officials are determined to finance the Berlin team in a most thorough manner. It is estimated that more than $150,000 will be necessary to transport and quarter the United States team of 100 or more athletes who will represent this country in 1916.

CARPENTIER WINS FROM PAT O'KEEFE

Nice, January 19.—Georges Carpentier, the French heavyweight champion, knocked out Pat O'Keefe, of Ireland, tonight in the second round. O'Keefe went to the floor with a right hook to the jaw and stayed there. O'Keefe seemed to have little chance at any time against the Frenchman.

After the fight Carpentier was challenged by "Kid" McCoy, the American heavyweight, and by George Gunther, of Australia. He said he would fight McCoy.

RED AND BLACK FIVE WILL PLAY LOCALLY

Georgia Quintet Meets Atlanta Athletic Club on Next Saturday Night.

One of the largest basketball crowds that have ever attended a basketball game in Atlanta are sure to be on hand Saturday night at the Atlanta Athletic club when the University of Georgia quintet comes here for a game with the club quintet.

The local aggregation has not lost a game on the home floor this season, but in the game Saturday night, they are going to be given the closest run that they have had as the Georgia aggregation is the strongest that has played here.

Georgia probably has the best of the college quintets and are sure to make a strong bid for the intercollegiate basketball honors this season.

The game is made doubly interesting by reason of the fact that Tulu Forbes and Ed Carter, formerly members of the University of Georgia team, are now stars on the local team. And Frank Carter, an Atlanta boy and brother of Ed Carter, is the star guard of the Georgian quintet.

The usual dancing feature will be enjoyed after the game.

CLEMSON FOOTBALL DATES ANNOUNCED

Clemson, S. C., January 19.—(Special.)—The football schedule for 1914 has been completed. In many respects, it is one of the best and most representative that Clemson has ever had. The game with Tennessee gives a line on the Tennessee and Kentucky elevens, while the game with V. M. I connects us up with the teams in Virginia, North Carolina and the District of Columbia.

The one great objection to the schedule is that it does not provide for a single game on the home grounds. It was impossible to get a home game. It is Auburn's turn this year to play at home, and the same is true of Davidson. Georgia will not play away from Athens, nor will Tennessee come to Clemson, although with the latter we have a contract covering a return game in 1915.

The Citadel game has been changed, at the suggestion of Coach Williams, to the Saturday after the Carolina game. This game could likely have been played at Clemson if the cadets had been at home.

The Tech and Carolina games must of course be played in Atlanta and Columbia respectively, as these two games are depended upon to finance the season.

The following is the schedule:

October 3—Davidson at Davidson.
October 10—University of Tennessee, at Knoxville.
October 17—Auburn, at Auburn.
October 29—Carolina, at Columbia.
October 31—The Citadel, at Charleston.
November 7—University of Georgia, at Athens.
November 14—Virginia Military institute at Richmond.
November 26—Georgia Tech at Atlanta.

VIRGINIA BREAKS WITH GEORGETOWN

Washington, January 19.—All future athletic relations between the University of Virginia and Georgetown university will be broken off. Announcement to this effect was made here today, following the receipt of a letter from Albert LeFevre, chairman of the faculty committee on athletics of the University of Virginia, to the Rev. Father Francis X. Anglim, S. J., faculty athletic director, Georgetown university.

The break came as the result of the communication which charged breaches of the eligibility agreement between the two universities which are said to have occurred on the Georgetown football team each year since 1909. In consequence, the annual football games between the two universities which have been great society events, as well as all other athletic contests, will be given up.

Notre Dame to Play Yale.

Notre Dame, Ind., January 19.—Notre Dame university's football team will play the Yale eleven at New Haven on October 17. The Notre Dame officials announced late today that the agreement for the game had been signed by both institutions.

PRINCESS MAKES TRIP THRO' PANAMA CANAL

Panama, January 19.—Princess Marie Louise, of Schleswig-Holstein, granddaughter of the late Queen Victoria, made a trip in a steam launch through the canal from Pedro Miguel to Culebra today. The princess and her party were guests of Colonel George W. Goethals, and were accompanied by the British minister, Sir Claude C. Mallet.

Princess Marie Louise is on her way to Kingston, Jamaica.

EARLY DEATH PREDICTED FOR FEDERAL LEAGUE

By Ban Johnson and C. W. Murphy—Federals Laugh at the Prediction.

Chicago, January 19.—Developments today in the newest baseball war left both sides—the aggressive outlaws of the Federal league and "organized ball"—confident of success. Predictions that the new league would give up the ghost in a short time were made by President Johnson, of the American league, and President Murphy, of the Chicago Nationals.

Lack of preparation in a number of towns, although the opening of the season is less than three months away, was given as a leading reason by prophets who expect the Federals' end soon.

Busy at Federal Offices.

In the meantime at the headquarters of the Federal league there was a busy scene all day. Among the visitors were Russell Ford and Ed Sweeney, the New York Americans' battery, both of whom were closeted with Joe Tinker, manager of the Chicago club, and President Weeghman, of the local club, for some time. Whether either or both of them had signed contracts with the Federals was not announced. Howard Camnitz, the former Pittsburg pitcher, traded to the Philadelphia Nationals, had a private discussion with "Doc" Geesler, the Pittsburg manager.

Despite reports that Killifer, of the Philadelphia Nationals, and Kirkpatrick, of Brooklyn, had not signed with the Federals, President Gilmore this afternoon exhibited contracts signed by these men. Thirty-three major league players have signed with the league, he said, eight of them having joined the new organization since Saturday.

Umpire Brennan Signs.

Infielder McCarthy, of Pittsburg, was a caller at the office early this evening and conferred with Tinker. Felix Chouinard, formerly of the Chicago Americans and later with Des Moines, also consulted with the Federal leaguers and intimated that he would sign with them.

William Brennan, National league umpire, this afternoon signed a three-year contract with the Federals. Seven more umpires of high class are on their way here to talk with the Federal leaders, Gilmore said.

Weeghman repeated today that he would stand by the new league, declaring that since the stormy meeting of Saturday he was sure it would be a success. In this connection President Murphy claimed to have information that Weeghman's protest at the meeting against "carrying three clubs" resulted in a verbal attack on him that "created wounds that cannot be healed."

Winston-Salem opens the season at Greensboro; Raleigh at Durham and Charlotte at Asheville, teams representing these six towns composing the league.

COLUMBUS' TITLE HANGS IN BALANCE

Southern Basketball Champions Have Tough Battle With Birmingham in Birmingham Saturday.

The Columbus Young Men's Christian Association basketball team, champions of the south, will have their title tested next Saturday night when they go to Birmingham for a game with the Birmingham Athletic club team.

Columbus will win the game is the belief of every one in Atlanta and in Georgia. If Birmingham could only defeat Atlanta by seven points in Birmingham and the Atlanta quintet without their strongest line-up on the floor, then against the swift Columbus boys, they are sure to fall.

Birmingham plays wonderful ball, however, in Birmingham, and the Columbus team is not going to have any easy picking with the game. In fact, the contest looks from this angle to be a tough one, with the champions carrying the edge in advance of the game being played.

FRANK WHITNEY MEETS MANDOT FEBRUARY 2

Local Favorite Started Training Yesterday for French Market Star.

Frank Whitney, the fighting carpenter of Cedar Rapids, and the local boxing favorite, started training here yesterday for his bout with Joe Mandot, in New Orleans on February 2.

New Orleans promoters are to be congratulated in securing Mandot and Whitney for their main bout on that date and the battle promises to be a splendid one.

Whitney says that he is going to train harder for this bout than for any in his life as if he beats Mandot in New Orleans he will be as solid with New Orleans fans as he is now with Atlanta fans.

Whitney is going to make Atlanta his home and in all futures fights, he will be introduced as "Frank Whitney, the Fighting Carpenter of Atlanta, Ga."

JOHNNY KLING GIVEN OUTRIGHT RELEASE

Cincinnati, January 19.—August Herrmann, president of the Cincinnati Baseball club, announced today that John Kling, the catcher who was with the local team last season, had been unconditionally released.

Kling had an agreement with the Cincinnati club that he was to be released outright if he did not want to play in 1914.

Kansas City, January 19.—"I am through playing ball," said John Kling when told today of the announcement of his unconditional release by the Cincinnati Baseball club. Kling is in business here.

SEVEN "G" MEN REPORT AT STATE UNIVERSITY

Athens, Ga., January 19.—(Special.)—Only seven old "G" men reported for the first baseball call at the university this evening when Coach Cunningham began the picking of material: Captain Rucker Ginn, McWhorter, pitchers; Corley and Hitchcock, Henderson, Harrison and Clements, infielders and Riley and Holden subs of last season. Twenty-four other men drew practice suits, several being from good prep school careers.

Two more signed contracts were received at local baseball headquarters Monday afternoon, bringing the total number of players signed up to sixteen, with fourteen more yet to be heard from.

The two men who signed Monday were Joe Dunn, the veteran receiver of last year's team, and Peter Browning, a youngster secured by the Crackers from San Antonio, of the Texas league.

Manager Smith also received the papers in the Doescher case. The actual transfer of the big southpaw from the Jersey City club, of the International league, to the Crackers, has been made. Manager Smith has now mailed him a contract.

Manager Smith is in receipt of a letter from Captain Harry Welchonce in which the latter asks the mogul to represent him at the Honey Boy Evans minstrel show here next month and receive from Mr. Evans the handsome trophy that the latter donated for the leading batsman of the league during the past campaign.

Manager Smith expects to close, in the next few days, for two games with Jim Fox's Columbus Sally league club. The dates set are April 3 and 4, the games to be played at Ponce de Leon park.

Nothing has been heard form McConnell and Jennings, the two players who state that they are not going to report here, the former because he is afraid of the south, and the latter because he says he has a better job coaching.

HUSBAND ENACTS DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Macon Man Kills Wife and Self—Wife Was Sister of W. P. Thompson, of Atlanta.

Macon, Ga., January 19.—(Special.)—Returning to his home, No. 3 Hill park, adjoining the Whittle school, this morning at 11 o'clock, Joe McWhorter, until recently proprietor of the "Old Seventy-Six saloon," went to a bedroom where Mrs. McWhorter was doing some cleaning, shot her through the heart and then turned the weapon on himself, firing two bullets through his own breast. Mrs. McWhorter fell to the floor dead and the body of her husband fell directly across her lifeless form. Both apparently died instantly.

It was a few minutes before 11 o'clock when McWhorter came home after spending a couple of hours down town. After he had entered the house his little 12-year-old daughter, Edith, ran across the street to the home of a neighbor, screaming at the top of her voice, "Come, quick; papa has locked mama in a room and is going to kill her."

About the same time three pistol shots were heard, but when several of the neighbors reached the house they were unable to gain entrance to the room. A riot call brought a number of policemen, who found another door to the room that was not locked, and when they entered a ghastly sight met their eyes. The head of the husband lay on the blood-soaked breast of his wife, and by his side lay a 32-caliber pistol.

Had Made Threats.

For three weeks the McWhorters are said to have been at outs, it being said that McWhorter had threatened to kill his wife because she would not give him a deed to 400 acres of land located near Oglethorpe, which he had previously made over to her. Mrs. McWhorter was preparing to sue for divorce, and when McWhorter went down town this morning it was thought he was going for the purpose of seeing a lawyer about his wife's contemplated suit.

McWhorter formerly operated the old "Seventy-six" saloon, near the Fifth street bridge, but quit the business at the first of the year. Two or three indictments for violation of the state prohibition law were pending against him in the superior court, and during the last three weeks he had been drinking heavily. His father, the late Joel McWhorter, who was a representative in the Georgia legislature for many years, left McWhorter about $30,000 when he died, and the latter had been spending the money at a rapid rate. Through the influence of an uncle he was induced to deed the 400 acres of land near Oglethorpe to his wife.

L. T. Thompson, father of Mrs. McWhorter, who had been making his home with his daughter, became hysterical this morning when informed of the tragedy and shouted to the police to take the body of his son-in-law and throw it in the river.

"Why did he kill my daughter!" he shouted. "He's a low-down rascal and worthless. It's too bad he couldn't have killed just himself."

Separate Funerals.

When the bodies of the husband and wife were taken to a local undertaking establishment this afternoon Mrs. McWhorter's relatives refused to have anything to do with the body of her husband. A friend of the McWhorter family became interested and communicated with Judge Hamilton McWhorter, of Athens, a first cousin of the dead man. Judge McWhorter wired to Dr. Thomas McWhorter, a brother of the dead man, at Hazlehurst, who in turn wired the undertakers here to ship the body to Stephens tomorrow morning, where the funeral will be held.

Mrs. McWhorter will be buried at Milledgeville, her relatives refusing to permit her to be buried by the side of her husband.

W. B. Thompson, of Atlanta, is a brother of Mrs. McWhorter.

McWhorter brought his wife and two children to Macon from Oglethorpe county about six months ago. He entered the saloon business immediately. The McWhorter family were large property owners in Oglethorpe county. The dead man's father and uncle were both farmers and mercantile men, and they were among the wealthiest men in the county.

That McWhorter had planned the killing earlier in the day was the belief of many this afternoon. During the morning Mrs. McWhorter telephoned to W. A. Thompson, a call officer in the police department and a relative, asking him to come and protect her as she feared violence at the hands of her husband.

ATLANTA INDORSED FOR REGIONAL BANK

to the stock of the reserve bank. One-half of this is to be paid in during a period of months in cash. The rest will be subject to call.

"The reserve of national banks, from this time on, when not located in reserve cities, are fixed at 12 per cent of their demand deposits and 5 per cent of their time deposits. Four-twelfths of this reserve permanently will be retained in the valuts of the home bank; five-twelfths in the reserve bank of the district and three-twelfths in its own vaults, or in the vaults of the federal reserve bank, according to the preference of the home bank.

"A reserve board of seven located in Washington will have general supervision over the reserve banks. Each federal reserve bank will be controlled by nine directors, six of whom will be elected by the member banks, stockholders in the particular federal bank, and three appointed by the reserve board. Two of those appointed by the reserve board must be skilled in banking. Three of those selected by member banks can be chosen by them without limitation. The other three chosen by member banks must be engaged in commerce, agriculture or some other industrial pursuit in their respective districts and cannot be officers, directors or employees of banks.

"The federal reserve banks can only do business with member banks and with other federal reserve banks.

"Each federal reserve bank will have available to meet the money or currency wants of the member banks of its district: the capital stock paid in by the member banks, the reserve of member banks on deposit with it, and such funds from time to time as the treasury of the United States, in co-operation with the reserve board, may deposit with it. Latitude of deposit has been given to the secretary of the treasury that the surplus funds of the government may be placed in that district in which at the time they may be most needed.

"The reserve board can permit, or by vote of five of the seven members, require one federal reserve bank to rediscount the discounted paper of another federal reserve bank, thus making it practicable to move the surplus money of the country to the locality in the country in which, at the time, it is especially needed.

Co-operation Assured.

"Thus we have an organized co-operation between the banks of the country for the mobilization of the surplus money and currency of the country with a general board of supervision free from any interest whatever in any bank given the power to control the federal reserve banks and to compel a mobilization in the public interest.

"In addition to this at each federal reserve bank there will be stationed a federal reserve agent. Through this federal reserve agent, under the rules prescribed by the reserve board, the federal reserve banks can rediscount paper and obtain federal reserve notes, these notes being new issues intended to make it possible temporarily to expand and contract currency. This feature of the bill is similar to the provisions under which the Bank of Germany, the Bank of France and the Bank of England enlarge and contract their paper currency to meet special needs in their respective countries. It is from this source that each bank properly managed, which has loaned the money of its depositors on good paper to solvent debtors, has the opportunity of rediscount with the reserve bank to meet any emergency and to prevent the possibility of a disastrous run upon a bank.

"After the expense of each federal bank has been paid the stockholders are to receive an annual cumulative dividend of 6 per cent on the paid in capital. After the payment of this dividend, the net earnings are to be paid to the United States as a franchise tax, except that one-half of the net earnings above the 6 per cent dividend are to be put into a surplus fund until it shall amount to 40 per cent of the paid in capital stock of such bank.

"Ordinary discounts by member banks with the federal reserve banks are limited to paper with a maturity at the time of discount of not more than 90 days.

"It is, however, provided that paper issued for agricultural purposes, having a maturity of not exceeding six months, may be discounted in amount proportioned to the capital of the federal reserve bank, to be fixed by the federal reserve board.

"It is also provided that a member bank not located in a central reserve city may make loans secured by farm lands for a time not longer than five years and for an amount not exceeding 50 per cent of the actual value of the property and for an amount not to exceed 25 per cent of the capital and surplus, or one-third of the time deposits, of such bank making the loans."

CLAIMS OF CHICAGO HEARD BY ORGANIZERS

Chicago, January 19.—That bankers in the middle western states regard it as settled in advance that one of the regional reserve banks to be established by the government will be at Chicago, was made evident here today at the hearing before Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and Secretary of Agriculture Houston. It also appeared certain the bankers felt that a regional bank would be located at either Minneapolis or St. Paul. Chicago bankers today at the request of the secretaries gave their opinions as to the territory to be covered by the Chicago reserve bank.

Iowa and Detroit, Mich., bankers requested that their territory be included in the Chicago division, and Minneapolis bankers presented the claims of that city to the northwest regional bank.

Secretary McAdoo asked if any one were present to speak for St. Paul, but there was no response. It is acknowledged, however, that the claims of the "other twin city" subsequently may be represented.

J. G. Rounds, of Des Moines; Frank Epperson, of Eddyville; Q. M. Davis, of Iowa City, and John McHugh, of Sioux City, urged that not only all Iowa but Nebraska and that part of South Dakota served by Sioux City banks should be included in the Chicago territory. It was inconceivable, they declared, that Iowa should be annexed to any financial center other than Chicago. Similar arguments were put forward by George H. Russell and William J. Gray, of Detroit.

"We do the bulk of our business with Chicago," said Mr. Russell. "It would be a great error to attach us to some eastern territory. Later, when more banks are established than the original eight contemplated, Detroit will wish to have a regional bank of her own."

The hearings will continue tomorrow.

"Patience Grace" Not Gypsy But Runaway New England Girl

Her mystery has been solved at last and now Patience Grace, whose romantic and pathetic story touched the hearts of many charitable Atlantans, is safely back at her humble village home in Massachusetts where she was born.

Patience was a trapeze performer with a traveling circus. Three months ago, while she was performing at Marietta, she missed her footing and the result was a broken hip, a most painful injury. While confined in the Grady hospital here, to which she was removed, Patience told a marvelous story of her origin and antecedents.

Her Romantic Story.

She said she was a gypsy girl, born at the foot of the Pyramids in Egypt. She had been brought to this country as a child and had sold papers on the Bowery, in New York. She told of many wonderful experiences she had, traveling about the country as a "hobo," beating her way on trains. She was very anxious to locate her people, whom she had not seen for many years.

Her story interested the nurses, then the doctors and finally became spread far and wide. Agents of the Associated Charities became interested in her and began an investigation. On one occasion, the girl, who seemed little more than a child in spite of her extensive experience with the world, remarked that if she could get back to Williamsett, Mass., she would receive aid from a lady with whom she had boarded at one time.

The lady was communicated with, and, much to the surprise of the inquirers, it developed that she was the girl's mother. It was further developed that the child had run away from home and had spent much time in almshouses and in hospitals for the insane. With all of her cosmopolitan experience, she was little more than 16 years old.

Money was made up for her return home, mainly from church contributions, and also with the assistance of officials of the Southern railway, who, while they could not furnish her with a pass could contribute from their private means to her passage money.

She persisted to the last that the account she had given of herself was the true one. The charming name, Patience Grace, she admitted, was assumed, but her fair hair and ungypsy-like complexion were accounted for, she said, by certain bleaches she had used.

NOT MUCH COLD AHEAD FOR ATLANTA THIS YEAR

C. F. von Herrmann, Atlanta's weather man, predicts that Atlanta will likely escape the usual freezing spells this winter except for a possible cold wave in February. Now is the time, he says, that we should have our coldest weather, but that conditions are unusually warm all over the country, and that spring will be here before winter has a chance.

Mr. von Herrmann prophesies warmer weather for Tuesday night, to follow a slight rise in the temperature during the day.

FATHER REACHES HOME WITHOUT HIS DAUGHTER

Pemberton, N. J., January 19.—Harry E. Bradley, father of Delilah F. Bradley, who was arrested at Mobile, Ala., with Joel M. Foster, of Browns Mills, near here, arrived home today without his daughter, who left Mobile with him last week.

Bradley refused to talk, but his son said that the girl is near by and safe. The mother of the girl left here yesterday and it is presumed she is with her daughter.

CITY ORGANIST KRAFT PRAISES MISS RANDALL

City Organist Edwin A. Kraft expresses himself as being particularly gratified at the ovation which was given Miss Bianca Randall at the free concert Sunday afternoon. He sees in it an evidence of the fact that the Atlanta music loving public, as a whole, is coming more and more to value and appreciate sincere artistic work.

Miss Randall has just returned from Europe, where she has lived for seven years, having been a favorite pupil of Jean de Reszke in Paris.

"Miss Randall possesses a voice of wonderful range and unusual clarity," says Mr. Kraft. "There was fine finish in phrasing and nuance. She has power, intensity and great depth of emotion, which she displayed to advantage in her opening number, 'Elsa's Dream,' from 'Lohengrin,' and also in the aria from 'Madame Butterfly.'

"So much did the audience like her songs and the American soprano's singing of them that she was obliged to add two encores. It is hoped that we may again have the privilege of hearing her in a recital in the near future."

ADVERSE REPORT MADE ON FRANK P. GLASS

Washington, January 19.—An adverse report on the appointment of Frank P. Glass as successor to the late Senator Johnston, of Alabama, will be made tomorrow by Senator Walsh on behalf of the committee on privileges and elections.

The resolution will come up tomorrow for debate. Minority views opposing the seating of Mr. Lee will be filed by Senators Sutherland, Dillingham and Bradley.

ALFALFA IS DISCUSSED BY LIVE STOCK MEN

Joseph Wing Speaks to Three Hundred Delegates at Athens Meeting.

Athens, Ga., January 19.—(Special.) Alfalfa in Georgia was the main subject of the afternoon session of the Georgia Dairy and Live Stock association, in convention here for two days. Joseph Wing, of Mechanicsburg, Ohio, was the chief speaker at this meeting, and the 300 in attendance listened with interest to his expert paper on "Building Land and Bank Accounts With Alfalfa."

Professor Fain, of the state college, followed with a report of the experiments with alfalfa on Georgia soil at the state college farm.

Mr. Wing showed that by using limestone on lands that would be hardly suitable for other crops, a net profit of $65 an acre can be made in Georgia on alfalfa—6½ per cent on an investment of $1,000 an acre on land that is returned at $5 and $10 and $20 an acre on the tax books.

Live stock as the best means of fighting the boll weevil was the burden of the address by Dr. Tait Butler, of Memphis, Tenn., an expert in his line.

Moving pictures were employed to illustrate the address of Dr. E. M. Nighbert tonight, who spoke on the work of tick eradication in the state.

Commissioner James D. Price was present this morning and responded to the welcome address by Dr. Soule, of the state college. The president of the association, Captain C. W. Parker, a practical and successful live stock man of Elbert county, delivered a common sense address. State Veterinarian Peter Bahnsen was also a feature of the program this afternoon.

A REAL INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITY

One Hundred Per Cent Dividends and a Two Thousand Per Cent Solid Gain on the Investment Altogether Probable in Eighteen Months.

Of course it's oil. But it is a proposition that any wideawake investor can tell will make good. There is good profit in $1.00 crude oil—especially in the big pools. This company has three refineries and a paraffine plant. Over 250 miles of pipe line. Over forty distributing stations. One hundred and three (103) producing oil and gas wells. Fifty-one tank cars. Also automobile oil delivery trucks and tank wagons. Also over 27,000 acres of oil and gas leases situated in big blocks in the five great oil counties of Oklahoma and a splendid fighting chance to protect our great Osage oil and gas lease of 430,000 acres. We are now operating six drills. Have sufficient oil production to operate three or four drills, but we should have thirty to forty drills in operation right now—and to start them and open up our 27,000 acres of oil and gas leases—where we should develop several rich oil pools that should produce millions—this old established company has doubled its capital stock and will offer it, so as to net the company about two million dollars cash. We put our properties, now valued at about three million dollars and represented by one-half of the stock owned by the present 12,000 stockholders, against the $2,000,000.00 cash from new stockholders, and offer this other one-half of the stock to the new stockholders for the two million dollars cash, so as to enlarge our refineries, pipe lines and distributing stations and to drill 400 new producers on our 27,000 acres of oil and gas leases. This proposition is a real money-making opportunity, fair to the old stockholders and the new stockholders alike, and you will so say and be glad to join with us when you read over the following statement of facts:

TO THE INVESTING PUBLIC:

This company is a pioneer in the Kansas-Oklahoma fields. Built the first two refineries in Kansas. Built the first one in Oklahoma. Built the first independent pipe line west of the Allegheny mountains. Established the first independent delivery stations in Kansas, Oklahoma and Missouri.

This company is a leader. It is always ahead. Now when the investors of the Middle West are just beginning to realize that there are great profits in the oil industry—when backed with sufficient capital—this company with a great organization that has proven its ability to protect itself and build stronger in the face of persecution by all the powers of the greatest criminal trust in the world—has today a property worth at least as a growing concern over $3,000,000.

Leaving a stock equity of about $2,500,000 to the stockholders after deducting $500,000 long time bond issue owned by stockholders.

NEARLY $2,000,000 OF INCREASED PROPERTY VALUES IN THE LAST TWO YEARS.

This company has made remarkable headway in the last two years. It has increased its assets about $2,000,000. This gain in value has been distributed among the old stockholders in substantially a stock dividend, so that the old stockholders who have been loyal to the company own their present stock at about one-third its present book value.

JOIN A WINNER.

The time was a few years ago that the Oil Trust practically controlled a part of the department of justice and the interior department. It still has many so-called reformers in all parties and in all factions of all parties in the United States. However, this company has been built up in Kansas, surrounded and protected by the real square deal men of the West, who first demand and then fight, if necessary, for the real right.

THE ONLY ABSOLUTELY INDEPENDENT COMPANY IN THE MIDDLE WEST.

The managers at the head of the company know the oil business from start to finish. They know that with sufficient capital now to drill and equip 400 to 500 more oil wells and enlarge and complete our main trunk pipe lines and refineries and delivery stations that this company can, within six months after completion, pay the stockholders from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 per year, and at this same time be a great blessing to the general public.

LEASES IN LINE FOR BIG PRODUCTION.

Even while you are reading over this announcement the drills may bring in a fortune-making oil well. After years of experience in the oil fields over (27,000) twenty-seven thousand acres of oil and oil gas leases in big blocks have been secured by this company. These leases can be divided up into twenty-four divisions. We have already developed oil and are producing from seven divisions. Upon these seven big divisions, where oil is already developed, there is room for about 300 wells. Think of it! With crude oil at $1.03 per barrel—and it is actually worth about $1.40 per barrel to our refineries, according to grade—and with our refineries increased and a big pipe line completed, this company, at a refining cost of from 20 cents to 30 cents per barrel, can sell on a steady market—a market right here in the home states of the Middle West—their refined products so as to bring the company from $1.80 to $2.50 per barrel.

As stated before, this is the only absolutely independent company in the Middle West. The public is well acquainted with persecution heaped on this company by political grafting would-be reformers who have tried to kill this company—(but were licked)—in the interest of the Oil Trust.

The people know when they read by the light of Uncle Sam oil that they are not aiding the Oil Trust in its combination with the invisible government.

The twenty-four oil divisions which constitute our 27,000 acres of oil and gas leases, as stated before, are in line with great producers. Any day our drills may develop some of our big leases into regular mints. These twenty-four divisions in many places are close up to the greatest oil pools in the Oklahoma fields. On some of these leases we have drilled some of the great oil wells ourselves. We had one well in Pawnee county start at over 400 barrels—(it was reported by our enemies as an 800-barrel well.) Another on the same lease started at 700 barrels—(it was reported by our enemies as starting at (3,000) three thousand barrels.)

Our twenty-four divisions, covering the 27,000 acres of oil and gas leases, are situated about as follows:

OSAGE COUNTY, 4,120 ACRES, DIVIDED INTO FOUR DIVISIONS.

(Do not have lease on gas rights only for development and operation of property.) There are seventy-two producing wells. Some of them have been pumping for six years. There are three to five producing sands above the Mississippi lime formation. We drilled the deepest well in Osage county and have proof that there is oil also in deeper drilling. This well was 2,997 feet deep. Another well where formations were lower was drilled about 3,200 feet. But our well was the pioneer deep well and penetrated the formations deeper, as they were about 300 feet higher in our district.

The company has invested in oil wells, leases, pipe lines and equipment in developments in Osage county about ($600,000) six hundred thousand dollars. It is good property, but takes about six years to pay out.

PAWNEE COUNTY, ABOUT 6,000 ACRES, DIVIDED INTO SIX DIVISIONS.

The Pawnee county property is the land of the deep drilling and great producers. The same formations in Osage county extend through this county, only they are deeper. There are five to seven sands above the Mississippi lime formation in this county. The company has undeveloped leases in Pawnee county—lots of them—that can easily develop into a million dollars each.

It takes about $9,000 to drill and equip a deep oil well in Pawnee county. About $4,000 to drill a deep dry test. There are wide-awake investors all over the Middle West who can easily remit $500 to $5,000. With this practical proposition and your remittance with others may open one of these great rich pools. All of the about 6,000 acres of oil and gas leases in Pawnee county are in between the greatest oil pools in Oklahoma. The great Osage gushers are on the north and the northeast. The great Cushing field just south and southwest. The Glenn pool and the big fields around Tulsa are on the east and the southeast.

Three of these Pawnee county divisions contain about 1,000 acres each and extend in one chain of leases about six and a half miles from the northeast to the southwest. These three divisions are right in between the great Osage gushers on the northeast and the great wells in the Cushing field on the southwest.

The Bartlesville sand goes in a southwest direction across Oklahoma. The big oil pools in this Bartlesville sand are nearly north and south. The greatest staying oil wells are in this Bartlesville sand. So far in the great Cushing field, on account of the good wells in the shallow sands, the operators delayed testing the deep Bartlesville production. However, about the time this company started a deep test on its big lease in Pawnee county—other operators started for the deep wells in the north part of the great Cushing field.

Our deep well is now down 2,650 feet (over half a mile). We have just drilled into the top of the Bartlesville sand. We should strike the deep Bartlesville production at about 2,725 feet. The drillers are now setting the casing. Another few days will see this well completed. We have developd the formation. Have a showing of oil, and if we do not get a big well we know results are sure near by, and we have a chain of leases as before stated, consisting of three of our Pawnee county divisions, extending six and a half miles from the northeast to the southwest. Our big lease lies just about half way between the deep Bartlesville wells in the Cushing district and the great gushers in the Osage.

These three districts in Pawnee county, when developed, should produce $2,000,000 to $4,000,000 of oil in the next three years or produce a sum twice as great as all the entire 200,000,000 shares of stock will come to at 1 cent per share—the price you can join with our 12,000 stockholders under this investment opportunity. The first money paid in will be used in starting four or five deep tests over this great acreage, any one of which may start at from 2,000 to 4,000 barrels per day. But it takes the cash to drill these test wells and we desire to put (40) forty drills in operation, and while our production is splendid, it will not run over three or four drills, and to properly develop our great oil and gas leases we must push ahead with thirty to forty drills. So we give you and others this opportunity to join our 12,000 stockholders on a ground floor, solid and conservative basis, with an organization that has stood the storm of persecution and won every battle—and now with the new year, with its battle flags unfurled for victory, is going ahead to certain success and is sure of the aid and good will of right thinking people everywhere, and during the next six to twelve months will place all the new capital with good citizens so as to put into actual construction at least $2,000,000 on top of our already great property. This $2,000,000 will make this company stronger and far more influential in the Middle West states than any Oil Trust combination.

The oil business is the real live wire industry in the United States today. Join a winner. You now have the opportunity to put a few hundred or a few thousand dollars into this stock and help drive the Uncle Sam drills at these favored locations.

As stated before, the Bartlesville sand goes in a southwest direction, but the big oil pools line up nearly north and south. The great Osage gushers are about seven miles northeast of our big Pawnee county leases and are on the east side of range 7. Three of our Pawnee county divisions, where we have one drill already in the cap rock of production, are on the east side and center of range 7. The big wells in the same Bartlesville formation in the Cushing field are a little west of the center of range 7. A straight line drawn from the Osage gushers in the Bartlesville sand to the Bartlesville sand gushers in the north part of the Cushing field will go right through the center of three of our Pawnee county divisions for over five miles.

These are the properties the new capital will develop. Our company is established. It is the pioneer refining company of the Oklahoma-Kansas oil fields. Do not wait until wide-awake, patriotic investors secure all the stock under this offer and until thirty to forty drills are in operation on the twenty-one divisions in this great oil field, but hurry in your order at once. Start the new year right. This stock will soon go. Only $400,000 will be accepted at this offer. Eight hundred investors at $500 each will take all of this offer. There are many that will remit $2,500 and $5,000. This proposition is practical, and there are a dozen good prospects on our 27,000 acres that could develop more oil in the next two years than all the stock will come to at 1 cent per share.

The company at this hour is at work on four deep wells in Pawnee county, any one of which may start at from 200 to 2,000 barrels each. To give you an idea of what our big Pawnee county leases might do, we produce hereafter reports on the Osage gushers and the Cushing big wells just completed in the Bartlesville sand in range 7. The Osage gushers are about seven miles northeast of our big Pawnee county leases. This report on the Osage gushers was published in the leading papers of the Southwest November 19 and is as follows:

"WORLD'S GREAT OIL FIELD.

160-Acre Lease Near Cleveland Produces 25,000 Barrels a Day.

TULSA, OK., Nov. 18.—The bringing in last week of three monster wells with an aggregate production of 10,600 barrels on a lease in the Osage country near Cleveland, has proven the property to be the greatest producer of high grade oil ever found in the world. The total production of the property is now 25,000 barrels and there is yet room for eighteen more wells which makes it possible for a production of 50,000 or 60,000 barrels.

The lease consists of 160 acres and was sold for $2,500 a little more than a year ago. It could not be bought now under $3,000,000 and very likely the owners would not part with it at this high figure."

The Bartlesville wells just completed in the Bartlesville sand in the Cushing field are about eight miles southwest of the southwest corner of our chain of three Pawnee county divisions. The report published in an Oil Trust paper at Tulsa on December 22 is as follows:

"At Cushing—That the Bartlesville sand is the real thing is amply illustrated by the showing made by the Producers' Oil Company well on the McIntosh farm in section 3, township 17, range 7. It is increasing gradually and the last report shows that it made six inches more oil than it did the day previous. It is now making twenty-seven feet, which is 810 barrels."

Remember this fact—all great oil pools have been a few miles apart. Our claims of three Pawnee county lease divisions are situated right. Just about half way between the gushers at Cushing and Osage. We have already got the Bartlesville sand. There is a showing of oil. We are sure of big production in the present well or nearby location. We do not have the space to go into detail on our other great leases in Pawnee county.

The company has paid out for oil lands, leases and development in Pawnee county about $250,000. By pushing ahead during the next six or eight months we should develop our Pawnee properties into millions. The property now back of the stock you will secure is about three to one in your favor. You cannot lose and can easily secure a gain of from ten to twenty times.

CREEK COUNTY ABOUT 9,000 ACRES, DIVIDED INTO SIX DIVISIONS.

All around our Creek county leases there are from three to five oil and gas sands above the deep Mississippi lime formation. The great Glenn pool and the splendid producers in the Okmulgee district are east and southeast of our big acreage in Creek county. The great Cushing field is west and northwest. The Oil Trust has leased up thousands of acres in the south and southwest and all around us. A part of the great Osage field is north and northeast. Like all the properties of the Uncle Sam Oil Company our Creek county oil and gas leases are located right. We should have at least five drills running in that county at this time. Many wells drilled near our leases have developed good sands and some good production. We helped to drill one important well in Creek county and can easily join with other neighbors and in a short time test our great properties situated in big blocks in that great oil producing county. There is yet room for other Glenn pools in Creek county. It will be hard to develop one without reaching into some of the Uncle Sam leases.

TULSA COUNTY ABOUT 3,000 ACRES, FIVE DIVISIONS.

In line with a new field just developed near Owasso, this company has about 800 acres. Big gas wells are near on the north, one within 2,000 feet. An old well, drilled and abandoned when the Oil Trust was stealing oil under carpet bag rule in Oklahoma, developed about a ten-barrel well, which is near on the west, showing a good thickness of sand. This company will soon start one or two drills in this district. The production is shallow and the wells can be drilled quickly and at small expense. The company already has a pipe line completed within four miles of this big lease.

Within three miles of our Tulsa refinery we have twenty-six oil and gas wells. There are many shallow leases for sale in this district and being so close to our refinery are valuable. The company has about 150 locations it can drill in this shallow and Red Fork sand. This oil is worth a big bonus to our Tulsa refinery. One oil is rich in gasoline and the other lubricating oil. By development the company can easily develop and sell over $1,000,000 worth of oil from our leases within three miles of our Tulsa refinery. We have completed fourteen producers and one failure in that district within the last ninety days. The company should keep ten drills in operation in that district until at least 150 more shallow and Red Fork wells are completed. We now have two deep wells in this district in the cap rock of production that will soon be completed. This is a field that is sure for high grade oil in the shallow and Red Fork sand and rich with small rich pools in stray sands that are liable to develop in any sand deeper down. Tulsa, like Pawnee county, has made millions for oil operators—and this company with its refineries has the inside track and can make from 25 cents to 75 cents per barrel more than any producer.

Near the center west side of Tulsa county on a direct line between the Glenn pool and the Osage gushers the company owns two oil farms of 480 acres each, about three miles apart. Both of these oil farms are located right. Production all around them. This land is owned in fee. This company is preparing for the future and now has lands and leases which, when developed, should produce from 6,000 to 10,000 barrels per day for thirty to fifty years, while we have many leases that might for a while do this much daily alone when developed.

The company has paid out for pipe lines, refinery, leases and lands, wells and development about $400,000 in Tulsa county and should increase this investment during the next year to at least $1,000,000. There should be $400,000 go into new oil wells and $200,000 go into a lubricating plant and increasing the Tulsa Uncle Sam refinery and additional shallow territory leases which are much more valuable to our company than any one else, and therefore easily secured.

ROGERS COUNTY, ABOUT 5,000 ACRES, THREE DIVISIONS.

Believing that rich pools similar to the Collinsville field on the north—the Nowata field on the northeast and the Ionola pool on the south and southeast, may be expected on most any lease in between these districts—this company has secured over 5,000 acres in Rogers county. We helped to drill two test wells that developed the oil and gas formation, some oil and some gas and lots of salt water. A thousand feet from any one of these wells may go into big production. We have one tract in the east side bend of the Verdigris river that we believe will be a second Ionola pool.

Another big district that can pass the Collinsville field extends for six miles in a chain of leases from southeast of Catoosa north to gas wells on adjoining farms on the north. We have another big division north of the Verdigris that has good showing on nearby farms. We will start three or four drills on these leases as quick as our construction cash will permit from the remittance under the offer herein.

PROPERTIES IN PLAIN SIGHT.

In Kansas the state tax commission taxes our properties at about three-quarters of a million dollars. We value our combined properties in Kansas and Oklahoma at over $3,000,000.

We figure that the increased capital should develop our property into a twenty million ($20,000,000) valuation. The increased capital should put the Uncle Sam Oil Company where in another year it should make $2,000,000 per year at least.

STOCK SHOULD PAY YOU 100 PER CENT DIVIDENDS ON THE PAYMENT BY YOU UNDER THIS OFFER AND INCREASE IN VALUE TWENTY TIMES AND STILL BE GROWING IN VALUE.

The board of directors realizes what the development of these properties means to the old stockholders and all the new ones. To keep the company independent the board of directors by unanimous vote advised the stockholders to double the capital stock as per resolution as follows:

"Resolved, That at the adjourned session of the annual stockholders' meeting, to be held at the office of the company at Phoenix, Ariz., on Monday, December 29, 1913, at 9 o'clock a. m., there shall be submitted to said meeting the proposition to amend the Articles of Incorporation, so as to increase the capital stock of this corporation from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000, to be divided into 1,000,000 shares of preferred stock, having the same proportion of voting power as at present, to be held and voted in the same manner as at present, for the protection of the treasury stockholders, and 199,000,000 shares of treasury stock having one-half of one vote per share, as at present, that the increased stock shall not be sold to any person other than a patriotic American citizen who will agree as part of the purchase price of the stock, that he will not transfer the same to any other person, without the written consent thereto, of the company, unless such transferee shall pay to the company the difference between the price originally paid the company for such stock and its par value; that all certificates issued for such increased issue of capital stock shall provide that the same shall not be transferred without the written consent of the company, except upon the payment of any difference between the price originally paid the company for the stock and the par value thereof, and that each certificate issued in lieu of any of said certificates shall contain the like provision, as an additional assurance that the stock of the corporation shall not fall into the ownership or control of the Oil Trust or of any of the competitors of this corporation and that it shall be and remain an organization of patriotic American citizens banded together to compete with the criminal Oil Trust, and that it may remain free to conduct its business without interference from traitors within its organization; that if it shall be necessary to sell any of said increased capital stock, the proceeds therefrom shall be used in developing the oil and gas properties of the company, completing and enlarging its plants and properties and extending, enlarging and conducting its business; and that the secretary be and is hereby directed to notify each stockholder of said proposed increase of the capital stock, as provided by law.

LAST BUT NOT LEAST.

To make the Uncle Sam Oil Company ten times greater than any concern in the West—while securing the 27,000 acres of oil and gas leases—another great lease of 430,000 acres was lawfully secured from the Osages. A bill is pending before congress to validate this lease. Several congressmen and senators from Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas have secretly aided the Oil Trust—together with sudsidized news writers who are trying to swindle this independent company owned by 12,000 American stockholders out of this great lease. But when the public knows the facts there will be a few more Foraker and Joe Bailey statesmen out of a job. A part of the memorial filed before congress will give you an idea of the magnitude of the Uncle Sam Oil Company's fight for right. The following taken from the printed report of the hearing of the committee on Indian affairs of the last congress—pages 42, 43 and 44—are as follows:

"THE OIL AND GAS TRUST."

The Standard Oil Company and the United Gas & Improvement Company belong to the same group of financiers and constitute what is known as the Oil and Gas Trust. Some years ago United Gas & Improvement Company organized a subsidiary company, known as the Kansas Natural Gas Company, and in the name of this company constructed a pipe line for the transportation of natural gas, which pipe line extends from Oklahoma through the eastern portion of Kansas and western portion of Missouri, and has been supplying natural gas for fuel and lights to Kansas City, St. Joseph and Joplin, in the state of Missouri, and Kansas City, Atchison, Leavenworth, Topeka, Lawrence, Ottawa, Garnett, Independence, Wichita, Hutchinson, Columbus, Oswego, Fort Scott, Olathe, Pittsburg and many other cities in the state of Kansas. In most of the cities it organized a separate subsidiary corporation in whose name it constructed a distributing system in the city and obtained a franchise from the city running for a long period of time, which gave it practically the exclusive right to supply natural gas to the city and its inhabitants for fuel and lights, and in said franchise contracts it agreed to supply said natural gas for a fixed price per thousand cubic feet; that it has supplied natural gas to its said customers in said manner for several years and has received a very large income therefrom, which has almost, if not fully, amounted to the cost of the original investment. For some time past United Gas & Improvement Company and its officers and subsidiary companies have formed a criminal conspiracy to relieve said subsidiary companies from the obligations of their franchise contracts and to increase the price to be paid by the cities and their inhabitants for natural gas for fuel and lights in violation of said contracts; that recently, and in pursuance of said conspiracy, they have secured the appointment of friendly receivers for the Kansas Natural Gas Company, said appointment being made by Judge John C. Pollock of the United States district court for the district of Kansas; that said judge appointed as receivers for said company Eugene Mackie, president of the company, and George F. Sharritt and Conway F. Holmes; that said receivers were the selection of said company to carry out its suggestions with a view to accomplishing said conspiracy to violate said franchise contracts and arbitrarily increase the price to be paid by the people for said natural gas; that the contract price between said cities and said subsidiary corporations who obtained franchises required the gas to be furnished to the inhabitants at from 25 cents to 30 cents per thousand cubic feet; that said price is a reasonable price sufficient to enable said Gas Trust to earn large profits. Notwithstanding this fact, said Gas Trust recently obtained an order from said Judge John C. Pollock that all of the natural gas furnished to said subsidiary companies must be paid for at prices very much in excess of the franchise price and that, unless paid for at such excessive price, said Kansas Natural Gas Company receivers should shut off the supply of natural gas from the people in all of said cities refusing to pay the increased price. Said order was made in mid-winter, when thousands of families were depending entirely upon natural gas supplied by said concern for fuel to heat their homes and had gone to large expense to equip their homes for the use of said fuel; that the Gas Trust also secured the appointment of friendly receivers for the subsidiary company having the franchise contract with the city of Kansas City, Mo., and appears to be able to use the United States district court for the district of Kansas in furtherance of the conspiracy to arbitrarily raise the price of natural gas to all of said people, and is making its unlawful, exorbitant and piratical demand, backed by an order of said court, at a time when the people are helpless and when they cannot exercise a free choice as to whether they will submit to the extortionate price demanded by the trust for fear that they will suffer from cold.

The conspiracy of said Gas Trust, its officers, receivers, and all who assist it in arbitrarily raising the price of natural gas, is a direct violation of the criminal section of the Sherman anti-trust law, and the conspirators should be prosecuted, convicted and confined in prison. No use of a federal court should shield them from deserved punishment.

If congress will immediately validate the Osage oil and gas leases set out in the bill now pending, the Uncle Sam Oil Company can immediately develop on said leased land an adequate supply of natural gas and can by agreement with the Osage national council furnish said gas to the receivers for the Kansas Natural Gas Company at the wells in the Osage nation at a price which any honest court will decide will enable said receivers to furnish gas to its patrons in compliance with the franchise contracts and be able at said price to comply with the contracts it has made with the various consumers and make a reasonable profit. It will not be necessary for any court to order the receivers for the Kansas Natural Gas Company to attempt to violate any contracts it has made fixing the price of natural gas supplied by it.

The leases provide that no gas shall be piped out of Osage county, but since the leases were drawn and executed the unexpected and unlooked for opposition from the interior department has persuaded the Osage Indians that it is to their advantage to have the leases validated, and they are willing to allow gas to be piped out of Osage county, provided a reasonable price is paid at the well and provided there is a surplus supply of gas above the amount needed in Osage county.

It appears to be the clear object and intent of the Oil and Gas Trust arbitrarily to raise the price of gas upon all the people it is supplying to about 75 cents per thousand cubic feet and then to secure a renewal of the Indian Territory Illuminating Oil Company lease on the 680,000 acres of the Osage Indian reservation in which it has control of the gas and secure control of the remainder of the Osage Indian reservation and then supply the people with natural gas for cooking purposes and lights at about 75 cents per thousand cubic feet. About 200,000,000 cubic feet per day could be used by the people in the territory covered by the pipe lines of the trust. If it could secure 75 cents per thousand feet, it would be securing more than 40 cents per thousand in excess of its contract rate, and if it could sell 200,000,000 cubic feet per day, an excess profit of 40 cents per thousand cubic feet would amount to an excess profit of $80,000 per day, which would amount to $29,200,000 per year. It is safe to say that said supply of natural gas could be obtained from the Osage Indian reservation for the next ten years at least, and if this scheme can be carried out, it would mean an excess profit above a reasonable profit of $292,000,000 to the Gas Trust.

The Uncle Sam Oil Company has been striving to have its lease with the Osage national council approved so that it could develop the territory. It believes that said territory is rich in oil and gas; that it could have from said leased premises a source of supply of crude oil for many years to come and that it could develop an enormous supply of natural gas, and if the Kansas Natural Gas Company should refuse to pay for the gas in excess of the needs of the Osage county a reasonable price at the wells, it could lay a pipe line and become a competitor of the Kansas Natural Gas Company in supplying said cities with natural gas and not only make a profit for its stockholders, but become a blessing to the thousands of people who are now commanded by the Gas Trust to stand and deliver in the dead of winter.

But the Uncle Sam Oil Company has been harassed by every device known to the Oil Trust and has met with the constant, persistent, unreasonable, unjust and unwarranted opposition of the interior department."

Democratic newspapers in Oklahoma, owned bag and baggage by the Oil Trust, are abusing one Oil Trust faction and letting their secret tools in congress write in their paper so as to try and fool the public as the Oil Trust did in Pennsylvania and Ohio.

NEW BANKING CODE WANTED FOR STATE

The Legislature Will Be Asked to Make Sweeping Changes--Hillyer Indorsed for Regional Bank Director.

L. P. Hillyer, vice president of the American National bank, of Macon, was formally indorsed by a resolution of the executive council of the Georgia Bankers' association, in Atlanta, Monday afternoon at the Capital City club, as a director of the regional reserve bank of whatever district in which the state of Georgia may be placed.

Mr. Hillyer is held in high esteem by all the bankers of the state, and is regarded as eminently fitted for such a directorship. He has the tacit indorsement of all the Atlanta banks.

Present at this meeting were Chairman L. J. Cooper, of the house committee of the Georgia general assembly on banking legislation, and Chairman G. M. Huie, of the senate committee. With these chairmen arrangements were made to inaugurate at the adjourned session of the general assembly which meets this summer the first steps toward an entirely new state banking code.

Changes Suggested.

The first object sought by the bankers, as expressed at Monday's meeting of the executive council, is to have the office of state bank examiner made a state department instead of a mere bureau of the treasury department, as is now the case. For this purpose a constitutional amendment will be proposed increasing the funds available for the treasurer's office for the purpose of maintaining the banking department upon a more efficient plane.

At a morning session of the executive council, with which met a committee from the Atlanta Clearing House association, Atlanta was selected as the meeting place for the 1914 annual convention of the Georgia Bankers' association. May 8 and 9 is the time.

In addition to this, group 3, of the five group conventions of the association which will be held this summer, will be held in Atlanta, April 24.

The other group conventions of the Bankers' association will be held as follows:

Group 1, Brunswick, April 22; group 2, Thomson, April 24; group 4, Columbus, April 27; group 5, Macon, April 23.

Will Arrange for Convention.

The Atlanta Clearing House committee, which consists of Colonel Robert J. Lowry, Robert F. Maddox and J. S. Floyd, will meet at a date to be fixed later with a committee from the executive council of the Georgia Bankers' association, for the purpose of arranging the details of the Atlanta conventions of the bankers. The bankers' association committee consists of L. P. Hillyer, Macon; C. H. Lewis, Atlanta, and Haynes McFadden, secretary.

At the executive council meetings Monday were the following members: Charles B. Lewis, chairman, of Macon; A. W. Hale, of Columbus; R. E. McNulty, of Americus; E. C. Smith, of Griffin; L. G. Council, of Americus; L. P. Hillyer, of Macon; C. H. Lewis and Haynes McFadden, of Atlanta; J. T. Culpepper, of Thomasville; E. L. Henderson, of Cedartown; J. W. Brown, of Locust Grove; A. W. Hale, of Columbus; J. T. Neal, of Thomson, and J. Frank Lee, of Royston.

"Peg o' My Heart" Offers Treat To All Lovers of Good Comedy

By Sidney Ormond.

"Peg o' My Heart" is just about the most delightful comedy one can imagine. I do not recall a play of recent years which is comparable to it. It strikes a brand-new note in playwriting. No one that I recall has done anything quite so clever. We have seen countless American girls transplanted to British shores—girls who caused us to feel more or less proud of them for the skill with which they handled themselves under trying situations. But thus far there has been but one Peg. She is by no means a rare type. She is to be found in all the large northern cities. Child of Irish father, whose spirit cries out for the woes of his native land, she also of us and part of us. Such a creature was Peg—her father's own child, proud of him and glorying in his poverty and his patriotism, full of the joy of youth and the zest of living; bubbling over with life, warm of heart and full of the humor of her father's race, scornful of conventions—

Such was Peg. Into the formal home of English relatives she comes at a time when her coming is only welcome because her aunt has lost her fortune and would be penniless but for a provision of her brother's will that she receive a sum of money yearly for educating Peg. The girl is like some rarely beautiful exotic in the midst of the artificialities which surround her. She refuses to take color from her surroundings. The Celt is too strong in her blood. She remains Peg—radiant and untouched of the world. And she makes others love her without the slightest art or artifice.

But in my enthusiasm for one single character I am rushing forward all but forgetful of the fact that Peg is but one of many in a play, and that the play itself delighted one of the largest audiences of the season at the Atlanta theater last night. Not only was the audience large, it was brilliant. Evening clothes were the rule. Members of the Rotary club and their wives and sweethearts occupied the center of the house. Each lady in the party wore American Beauty roses. The fragrance of the flowers and the touch of color they lent to the house added to the attractiveness of the occasion. The audience must have been an inspiration.

I have hinted in the vaguest of ways at the general character of "Peg o' My Heart." Perhaps if you are not familiar with the story it is just as well to essay no further description. Details would only detract from the pleaure of watching the play unfold. And then, too, there is very little to tell. The charm of the play is its atmosphere and the skillful drawing of the characters, each of which has been done with a touch that is deft but none the less sure and convincing. They are very real people, these characters, and few of them are out of drawing. Through the three acts you feel very much as if you were living in the atmosphere of English folk of the better type.

"Peg o' My Heart" is admirably presented. Not a character but is given its full value. Several are amazingly clever. Naturally, interest centers on the portrayal of Peg by Miss Blanche Hall. She invests the part with a rare degree of sincerity. Her velvety Irish brogue is a constant delight. Ruth Garland, as the formal English girl who forgets she has a heart and is on the point of forgetting her honor, does a splendid bit of acting. Vivian Gilbert, the spoiled son of his conventional mother, is extremely amusing. He does the best "sweet boy" character I recall having seen in years. Other members of the cast are equally capable.

"Peg o' My Heart" will be here for the entire week with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

AT THE THEATERS

Norman Hackett.

(At the Lyric.)

There is no gainsaying the fact that Norman Hackett has a strangle hold on the hearts of Atlanta theatergoers. As Raffles, in "The Amateur Cracksman," he held an exceptionally large Monday night audience through four acts of one of the cleverest vehicles he has chosen to exploit his company during his engagement at the Lyric. Mr. Hackett has possibly never appeared to better advantage. His Raffles was splendid; in fact, his work was given favorable comparison with some of the better known actors.

"Raffles" is not new to Atlanta theatergoers. It has pleased local theatergoers on every occasion of its presentation here, but if applause is to be taken as an indication none could have been more pleasing than Mr. Hackett's production. His support is splendid, although it was a bit disappointing to find Edwin Vail in a very limited part. Mr. Vail is equipped for parts which require more polish than that of Crawshay, the burglar. As usual, Burton Robbins excelled. As Captain Bedford, the detective, he was impressive. Teddy Le Duc, as Lord Amersteth, was very good at times. Dan Reed was a bit disappointing as Bunny. He was too light for the part. Miss Deihl was sympathetic and altogether pleasing, and Blanche Seymour scored as Mrs. Vidal.

Mr. Hackett's "Raffles" is an elaborate production, correct in detail. At times the action was allowed to drag, but that defect—if it be a defect—will be smoothed out. It might be well to direct the attention of the stage manager to the long intermissions, which are not altogether popular with Lyric patrons. Twenty-four minutes between acts is too long to keep a highly interested audience waiting. It has a detracting effect.

The above is not aimed as a criticism, but merely as a suggestion which every patron will doubtlessly approve.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Owen McGiveney's "Bill Sikes" tops the bill at the Forsyth this week both in the billing and the amount of applause given by the patrons, that is, judging from his offering of Monday afternoon and night.

McGiveney does one of the most remarkable quick-change acts ever shown in vaudeville, and it is by long odds the best thing in tabloid sketch novelty seen in Atlanta in some time.

Outside of McGiveney the bill this week is only but fair. The Stanleys, with their new shadowgraph, open, but the act should be brought forward. It has the saving grace of being new, at least.

Williard's Temple of Music is another novelty, and while it shows "long jumps" as to scenery and staging, it still puts up a good appearance.

The Four Bards, one of the best-known acrobatic teams doing vaudeville, use some new ground tumbling stunts that are startling.

Devine and Williams, Walter Van Brunt and the pictures also work.

"Traffic in Souls."

(At the Grand.)

"Traffic in Souls," the moving picture depicting the operations of "white slavers" in New York, and which was widely commented upon at the time of its production in New York, is being exhibited this week at the Grand theater.

The local board of censorship saw the picture Monday afternoon and allowed its presentation in Atlanta to proceed.

UNIFORM INTRASTATE EXPRESS RATES REMOTE

Little Attained by Conference Here Monday—Uniformity Would Raise Georgia Rates.

Representatives of the railroad commissions of a number of southern states, who were in conference at the Piedmont hotel Monday morning on the matter of intrastate express rates, reached no conclusion, but, after hearing at some length from the special agents of the interstate commerce commission, decided to report to their respective commissions on their return home.

The effort is being made by the interstate commerce commission to induce the southern states to adopt intrastate express rates uniform with the interstate rates which have recently been adopted by the Washington commission. W. A. Ryan and J. G. Dunlop were the special representatives of the interstate commerce commission at the conference.

Conference Organized.

The conference was organized by the selection of Royal C. C. Dunn, of the Florida state commission, as president, and A. P. Maxwell, secretary of the North Carolina corporations' commission, as secretary. Others who were present from the state commissions were C. Murphey Candler, Judge George Hillyer and J. P. Webster, rate expert of the Georgia commission; F. M. Sheppard, chairman of the Mississippi commission; J. H. Tench, rate expert of the Florida commission, and J. O. Hendley, rate expert of the Tennessee commission.

E. M. Williams, vice president of the Southern Express company, and R. C. Alston, general counsel, were also present at the meeting.

It is almost certain that the states will not all agree to the adoption of the uniform rate established by the interstate commerce commission which it is suggested to be put into effect February 1. The Tennessee railroad commission has notified express companies that it will not approve of the rates without a further investigation.

Would Raise Georgia Rates.

The effect in Georgia would be to raise rather than to lower the local express rates, and the shippers would undoubtedly ask to be heard before the railroad commission accepted the change. The minimum rate of the interstate commerce commission is 50 cents per hundred pounds, while the Georgia rate begins with 40 cents per hundred pounds.

The states in Group 2, which would be affected by the proposed change in express rates, are Georgia, Florida, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi and Alabama. South Carolina, Virginia, Kentucky and Alabama were not represented at Monday's conference.

Kappa Alphas Enjoy Banquet; Callaway Heads Local Alumni

The Atlanta Alumni chapter of the Kappa Alpha fraternity banqueted last evening at the Capital City club. The festal board groaned under the weight of rich and rare delicacies. One thing was conspicuous by its absence—the sparkling champagne was not sipped in response to the many brilliant toasts to southern chivalry proposed by Toastmaster Albert Howell, Jr.

While it was a "dry" banquet, there was nothing "dry" about the time the guests enjoyed, however. This was brought out in the speech of P. S. Etheridge in an answer to the toast, "A dry banquet but not a dry time." By their applause the members of the alumni showed that they indorsed his words.

Though Robert E. Lee himself was never a Kappa Alpha the annual feast of this well-known fraternity was held on his birthday in commemoration of Kappa Alpha fraternity being organized to maintain and uphold southern chivalry at the Washington and Lee university, while Lee was president of the college.

The Atlanta Alumni chapter is the largest in America. One hundred and fifty plates were served and old Kappa Alpha was toasted and cheered to the echo. The colors of the fraternity, crimson and gold, were carried out in the color scheme of red carnations placed in brass jardinieres on the tables. The souvenirs of the occasion were pin cushions mounted on pasteboard boxes in which ice cream was served. The banquet committee, composed of Henry Heinz, chairman; George W. McCarty, Jr., and William Niller, was heartily praised for the commendable manner in which they arranged the details of the spread.

Some of Georgia's most prominent citizens responded to the toasts, among them being two judges of the supreme court, Judge Joseph Henry Lumpkin and Judge Hiram Warner Hill. Dr. John E. White delivered a speech on "Applied Chivalry" in relation to Kappa Alpha principles and ideals which brought forth cheer after cheer. Many spoke of it as the best speech they have ever heard Dr. White make. other toasts were responded to by the Hon. Thomas H. Jeffries, M. L. Brittain and P. S. Etheridge.

Dr. K. G. Matheson, president of Georgia Tech, was present, with the entire Alpha Sigma chapter from Tech. The University of Georgia Gamma chapter had several representatives on hand. Other Kappa Alphas, prominent in public and civic circles, present included Judge E. C. Kontz, Bishop Warren Candler, Judge John S. Candler, Burton Smith, Hugh Dorsey, Major Polhill Wheeler, of Macon; Dr. Dunbar Ogden, Dr. William Perrin Nicolson and Ben Lee Crew.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Frank C. Callaway, president; George W. McCarty, Jr., first vice president; George H. Bonnell, second vice president; James Alexander, third vice president; William Niller, secretary, and Robert Lee Avery, treasurer. Appointed on the executive committee were Henry Heinz, chairman; H. V. Reynolds, J. D. McCarty, Jr., officers to constitute ex-officio members of same.

Groom in Secret Wedding Held on Bigamy Charge Made by Father-in-Law

A bridegroom of only a short time, A. W. Williams was arrested Monday afternoon at the instigation of his father-in-law, J. W. Hightower, a merchant of Haygood street and Capitol avenue, who charges the prisoner with bigamy.

Williams gave his address as 63 Dillon street, and would make no statement. He and Miss Georgia Hightower, who is only 17 years old, have been married only a short while, the marriage having been kept a secret at the groom's request.

Upon learning of the marriage, Mr. Hightower is said by the police to have instituted an investigation into his son-in-law's past, which, he says, revealed that Williams has another wife, for whom detectives are now searching.

Police authorities stated last night that they believe Williams has a number of wives, and they have communicated with several Georgia and Florida cities in effort to learn more of the prisoner's past. It is rumored, the police say, that he has a third wife in Tampa, Fla.

J. B. Dunn, of Rome, telephoned from that city last night to Night Chief E. L. Jett, that his daughter Ruth, had married Williams some time ago, and that she was living at 180 Madison avenue, Atlanta. This is the wife, the police say, whom Mr. Hightower found upon investigating the record of his son-in-law.

EDGAR WATKINS SPEAKS BEFORE COLLEGE WOMEN

The Southern Association of College Women held a meeting Monday afternoon at the University club on Peachtree street, and Edgar Watkins addressed the meeting upon "Municipal Government." The association is making a study of city government this year.

LANIER AGAIN ON TRIAL FOR MURDER OF INFANT

Witnesses Declare That Baby Died From Violence.

Waycross, Ga., January 19.—(Special.)—That the infant son with whose death W. C. Lanier is charged, and who is again on trial in superior court, came to its death by violence was the testimony given today by Sheriff D. W. Pittman and Judge Harry M. Wilson.

Sheriff Pittman, however, stated on cross-examination that part of the road over which the body was carried was rough and the body might have been jostled against the coffin. From the developments in the trial it appears the defense will seek to prove the defendant knew nothing of the alleged marks or bruises on the infant's body.

Seated by Lanier in court today was his wife who last June was acquitted of the charge of murder. Frequently during the day she clasped his hand and at certain stages of the examination of witnesses was moved to tears. Her parents and the parents of her husband were present.

Charles B. Miller, LaGrange.

Charles B. Miller, of LaGrange, Ga., brother of Captain T. H. Miller, chief clerk of the municipal court, died at White Springs, Fla., on Sunday. Captain Miller left Monday night for LaGrange to attend the funeral.

SALTS IS FINE FOR KIDNEYS, QUIT MEAT

Flush the Kidneys at Once When Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

Five Wells Will Be Completed During Next Forty-eight to Ninety-six Hours. If All Should Come In Big--Oil Stock Still Within Your Reach, Under Old Price, May Be Advanced 100 Per Cent Or Double Old Price

Thousands are about ready to remit. The public knows this stock has a great future. Wells near completion are 104, 105, 106, 107 and 108. Locations and late reports are as follows:

Since the statement on the opposite and following columns was published, development work has progressed as follows:

The next well, No. 104, expected in is 1,710 feet deep, should secure a big production between 1,718 and 1,735 feet. There is a gas well that has produced for seven years and started at fourteen million (14,000,000) feet—only one location away—just across the line. Sprayed oil when drilled in. This well can easily start at from 100 to 500 barrels; is in high-grade oil territory and close to our Tulsa Uncle Sam Refinery—company has other territory yet to drill around it.

Well No. 105 should be completed within seventy-two hours—is in between two oil wells on one of the Uncle Sam leases in the deep territory in Pawnee County. One well on the northwest started at 400 barrels per day and on the southeast another started at 800 barrels. We expect this well to make from 400 to 1,000 barrels for a while, and be a big producer for many years.

Well No. 106 is our deep well on the big lease in Pawnee County. Since the last report the drillers have had trouble with the casing collapsing. They got this well ready to go ahead yesterday and should have the deep production at 2,725 feet—over a half mile deep—by Saturday or Monday. This well is located on a line between the Osage gushers that have started as high as four thousand (4,000) barrels per day, and the deep Bartlesville wells in the north end of the great Cushing field that have started as high as eight hundred (800) barrels per day. The formations are high in this well—have already struck some oil, but the big pay should be in the next eighty to ninety feet. It would be no surprise if this well started as high as a thousand barrels per day, while it will mean the opening of a great pool even to get a 100-barrel well in the deep sand at this location. Our lease there is 6½ miles from the northeast to the southwest and can easily develop into several million dollars' value.

Well No. 107 is on one of the big Uncle Sam Pawnee County leases. It is about 2,350 feet deep at this hour and should strike the big production at from 2,490 to 2,540. It is located between a reported ten thousand barrel well on the nothwest and the 400 to 800-barrel wells on the southeast. Our field men believe they have the connecting trend. This well will be a 1,000-barrel gusher or a failure, with indications for a gusher. Formations are high. The outlook is as promising as it could be at this depth. This well should be completed by Saturday. Around it we have the leases for a mile and a half north and south. This field also can be a lid lifter for Uncle Sam stock.

Well No. 108 is located just 400 feet from a splendid high-grade oil well on a lease that joins one of our 120-acre leases in the famous Lost City oil pool near Tulsa. The indications are that The Uncle Sam Oil Company has one of the richest spots of that rich oil field. Like the other four wells drilling, it would seem that success and good fortune was with this independent oil company at this location. Wells drilled on the northwest indicate that this rich pool should cover the south end of this lease, where there is room for 8 to 12 wells that our well-organized drilling department can and will put down in the next thirty days if this well starts as high as even three hundred (300) barrels, and it is situated right and only about a half mile from several wells that started at from 600 to 900, and one as high as 1,600 barrels per day in this same sand, that is in the well only 220 feet from our lease where we will have in this well No. 108 by next Monday. This new well on the south came in at about 150 barrels and has been reported as high as 250 to 300 barrels. Our Company has from 400 to 500 acres south and southeast of this new pool if it does not back up on the south end of our big property on the north. So we are sure to get this rich production right there by our Tulsa Uncle Sam Refinery, either going or coming, for this Company is operating on a big basis and does not leave any bars down when it goes after good stuff.

We are raising this construction capital and will drill these proposed four hundred oil wells. The time for you to secure your stock is right now before a big advance takes effect.

Already in Kansas an honest Democrat, who knows the tricks of the criminal trust, is the leading candidate for the United States senate.

He will lead a fight against these fake reformers that seek to betray the public. There are now 2,600 Uncle Sam stockholders in Kansas, about 1,000 in Missouri and 1,000 in Oklahoma. The Oklahoma and Missouri stockholders will organize and inform the public of the secret alliance of certain fake reformers who really are the secretly retained lawyer fixers of the criminal Oil Trust and the breweries—the invisible government. The Oil Trust has a willing friend in the present commissioner of Indian affairs, and independent men will never let up on the fight until they drive this Oil Trust Indian commissioner out or force the present interior department to admit its secret connivance with the greatest of all the criminal trusts. The Uncle Sam Oil Company is no respector of persons and will expose a dishonest cabinet officer just as quickly as it will a crooked federal judge, and is gaining ground each day. It is going to build up the greatest producing refining and marketing oil company in the United States. Its cause is just. Right will prevail. We only want honorable, patriotic investors as stockholders. While you will be sending in your check others will be doing the same. Also 12,000 stockholders will hand from ten to fifty copies of this statement to that many investors, so it will reach millions of investors at once.

That you may understand the condition that caused the board of directors of the Uncle Sam Oil Company to bring about this increased capital and order this offer, the following part of the report of the board of directors to the stockholders of November 24, 1913, explains itself and is as follows:

"The board desires to impress upon the stockholders the importance of voting in favor of the increase of the capital stock. It may not be necessary to sell any of this increased capital stock, but the board desires to provide an opportunity for the patriotic American citizens to take part in this contest against the criminal Oil Trust for the rights of this independent oil company to exist and do business under the laws of the United States and in case it is necessary to sell any of the proposed increase of the capital stock, that the patriotic citizens of the United States be given an opportunity to enroll themselves as members of this corporation, enlisted in this army, pledged to battle for justice against the greed of the criminal Oil Trust, to free the American people from the blighting influence that reaches into high political positions, robs the people through the acts of public officials who use subsidized press to keep the people in ignorance of the facts and blinded to the truth.

"The Uncle Sam Oil Company has never taken a backward step. From the date of its organization it has fought the battle of the people. It has been attacked by every power the Oil Trust could control, including men occupying the highest public position. The public press has been utilized for the purpose of libeling its officers and belittling their efforts. Persons high in authority have been used to persecute the officers of the company. Departments of the government of the people, which should have protected this company, have been used as instruments in its persecution. Prices of oil have been cut; freight rates have been raised; oils have been damaged; our refineries have been set afire; our officers have been falsely indicted; these false indictments have been published throughout the United States and other persecutions have been conducted against the officers of this company, all for the purpose of preventing it from competing with the criminal Oil Trust, and preventing the people from being aroused and exercising against the trust, the power of their righteous indignation. Under all these adverse circumstances the Uncle Sam Oil Company has grown and advanced until it has acquired property of the value of $3,000,000, and if its large Osage lease should be validated by congress, by development its properties can easily become worth many millions more and it can become an effective competitor of the Standard Oil Company in several states in the Mid-Continent field. It can curb the trust as no other independent company can. It can pay its stockholders a fair dividend and furnish oil to the people at a fair price and in time it can spread its distributing stations all over the nation. The recent indictments of its officers is an outrage, the Americans will resent when they know the facts. President H. H. Tucker, Jr., is indicted because he published an advertisement in The Kansas City Journal requesting loyal American citizens to petition their congressmen to support the bill now pending in congress to validate our lease with the Osage national council. William C. Plumb, a stockholder of this company, is indicted because he had the bill introduced in congress, and Albert L. Wilson, general counsel, is indicted because he appeared before the sub-committee of Indian affairs in Washington and urged the committee to subpoena witnesses whose testimony would uncover the rascality and crime of the Oil Trust and throw the light of congressional investigation upon the conduct of the unfaithful public servants who have been doing the bidding of the Oil Trust. The board has determined that the American people shall know the facts in this infamous outrage. The board believes that the time has not yet arrived in the United States when it is a crime to urge loyal American citizens to petition congress to do right or to introduce a bill in congress providing that justice shall be done or to appear before the committee of congress, urging it to investigate the Oil Trust and its tools in public office, and if the stockholders of this company agree with the board and vote the increased capital stock, the loyal American citizens will be given an opportunity to enroll themselves as comrades in this army of stockholders, pledged to see justice done. In this contest with the Oil Trust the American people will gladly take the part of the Uncle Sam Oil Company, for it has been honest and it is right, and the power of the American people cannot be withstood by all of the dirty dollars which the trust now possesses, or the henchmen they can employ.

"The subsidized press and the tools of the trust in public office may raise the cry of over-capitalization and 'watered stock' and 'fraud,' but the fact will remain that the present value of the company's property is three times the amount necessary to make the stock worth what the company will ask for it, and that whatever water is in the stock will belong to the loyal, patriotic citizen who purchases the stock and not to some man like J. P. Morgan, who secures his millions by selling watered stock to the people at par value. When the stock of the Uncle Sam Oil Company pays dividends, sufficient to place the stock at par, the profit between the price the stock is offered to the people and the par value will be in the pockets of the common people of the United States who have patriotism, loyalty and faith in the ultimate success of this enterprise and will not be owned or controlled by any millionaire who waters the stock and sells it at par. The Uncle Sam Oil Company is founded upon the principle that the common people are entitled to all the profits which are usually withheld from the investors and pocketed by the promoter. It places its stock in the hands of the common people at a price less than its real value, and those who are fortunate enough to secure it at this price will reap all the profit which usually goes to the promoter. The Uncle Sam Company does not desire any traitors in its army of stockholders. It wants nothing but loyal, patriotic citizens. It appeals to men and women who love the United States and who are opposed to the crime and greed of the Oil Trust and who favor the removal from office and punishment of each public servant who bends the knee to the oil monopoly. Each and every stockholder of the Uncle Sam Oil Company is urged to favor the increase of the capital stock in order that a large additional army of loyal, patriotic American citizens may be permitted to join us. The funds to be raised, the board believes, will make every share you own worth many times its present value and the new stockholders will be an added strength, which will enable this company to defeat any scheme that the Oil Trust may devise for its destruction."

If you are a sincere believer in protecting the "right of opportunity" as each individual or concern is entitled to under the Stars and Stripes, then line up behind the Uncle Sam flag on the following "New Year's Opportunity Offer."

Make all remittances to The Uncle Sam Oil Company.

SPECIAL NOTICE

To Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri and Other Investors Who Were Robbed by the Oil Trust in the Kansas Oil War of 1905

When oil was first discovered in Southeast Kansas—1903-4—there were 400 independent concerns and companies that invested between $12,000,000 and $15,000,000 in developing the Kansas field. At one time the Kansas production was over 80,000 barrels per day. At first the Oil Trust encouraged the producers and paid $1.18 for eighteen to twenty-six gravity crude and $1.38 per barrel for thirty-two to thirty-seven gravity crude oil. Thousands of citizens from Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma invested in good faith in the developing of the Kansas field and more than 90 per cent of the investments would have paid out big, but as quick as the Oil Trust had succeeded in lying to the public and deceiving thousands into pioneering and developing the Kansas field, the Oil Trust arbitrarily put down the price of crude oil from $1.38 per barrel to 35 cents per barrel and then refused to accept only a limited amount from the independent producers. The founder and now president of the Uncle Sam Oil Company was one of the Kansas producers that did not surrender, and in the Kansas oil war that followed the Uncle Sam Oil Company was practically the only company that protected its life and maintained itself against the criminal discrimination of the Kansas field. The report of the Kansas attorney general's office shows that out of every 400 independent concerns and companies representing $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 invested, four or five concerns stood through the fight, the Uncle Sam Oil Company being the only big company to weather the storm.

The voters of Kansas that gave the electoral vote of Kansas to President Wilson were the citizens that were robbed and whose oil companies were broken up and killed by the purchasing agent company of the Oil Trust. A Republican legislature and Republican governor of Kansas passed laws that curbed the Oil Trust in Kansas and made possible the great success of the Uncle Sam Oil Company, which Congressman Jackson, one of the members of the Indian affairs committee of the last congress, openly stated had saved the people of Kansas $2,000,000 per year by the competition of the Uncle Sam Oil Company with the Oil Trust.

To become a great company and save the people $2,000,000 per year in a dozen states in the Middle West, the Uncle Sam Oil Company needs the Osage lease of 430,000 acres pending before congress. With this big acreage on top of our present 27,000 acres the Uncle Sam Oil Company can save the people of the Central West $50,000,000 per year in oil, and the people of Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma about the same amount yearly on domestic gas. To keep the Uncle Sam Oil Company from securing large acreage of the "raw material" and thus protecting the public, the Oil Trust has resorted to every trick and crime to cheat the Uncle Sam Oil Company's 12,000 stockholders out of this Osage lease of 430,000 acres and get it for the Oil Trust.

OIL TRUST CONCERN THAT ROBBED KANSAS PEOPLE IS FIRST CONCERN TO RECEIVE LEASE BENEFITS IN THE OSAGE FROM THE PRESENT INDIAN COMMISSIONER.

As startling as it may seem, such is the truth until an anti-oil trust Democrat candidate for the United States senate from Kansas has openly declared war on the present Oil Trust Indian commissioner. This Indian commissioner has proof that he could proceed to collect for the Osage nation about ($12,000,000) twelve million dollars—the difference due the Osages on the royalty price of oil stolen by the Oil Trust as a conspiracy price fixed by former Republican Oil Trust officeholders—instead of making the Oil Trust pay the Osages their $12,000,000, the present Indian commissioner could collect if faithful to his public trust, he makes an attack on the Uncle Sam Oil Company's Osage valid lease and proceeds to frame up with the same Oil Trust concern that raised the black flag against the Kansas oil producers, and his first act as a traitor Democrat Indian commissioner is to attempt to take a part of the Uncle Sam Oil Company lease without a hearing and give it to the trust on a frame-up deal of a spite bonus paid by the Oil Trust that already has over $12,000,000 of Osage money that could be collected with interest if this traitor Democrat Indian commissioner was as faithful to his public trust as he is to the Oil Trust in his attempt to rob the Uncle Sam refiners of crude oil to manufacture and deliver to the public in competition with the greatest criminal monopoly known in the world.

If each citizen in Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma who was robbed by this same Oil Trust concern that now has a "special pull" with the present traitor Democrat Indian commissioner, will invest one-fourth of as much money in the Uncle Sam Oil Company now—and join with our fighting independent army, now over 12,000 strong, we can drive to utter rout these Oil Trust manipulators in high places—beat every Oil Trust senator and congressman in Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri—protect the Osage lease so the Oil Trust cannot steal it and cause the removal of the present Indian commissioner and the placing in his place an Indian commissioner who will have a suit brought and collected (not settled for 10 per cent on the side) for $12,000,000. Just about the exact sum you Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma people were robbed of by the Oil Trust in the black flag fight on the Kansas oil fields. A former attorney general of the United States who aided the first fight on the Uncle Sam Osage lease, received one fee of ($100,000) one hundred thousand dollars from the Oil Trust within ninety days after his term of office expired for appearing in an inferior case where ample Oil Trust attorneys were already hired to take care of the case.

What was that $100,000 padded fee for? What is the Oil Trust promising or paying the present United States officials who are doing the same job for the Oil Trust now? This former United States attorney general aided the Oil Trust with the same zeal as the present traitor Democrat Indian commissioner.

Join the Uncle Sam Oil Company today and aid in this righteous fight against treacherous officials and fake reformers and help make the Oil Trust dig over that $12,000,000 to the Osage and help protect the Uncle Sam-Osage lease and the increase on your Uncle Sam stock will make back your former loss—caused by the same Oil Trust gang that now seeks to rob the Uncle Sam Oil Company's 12,000 American stockholders of the valuable 430,600-acre Osage lease—thereby turning it into a profit through the success of the Uncle Sam Oil Company on a big basis which is certain, for its efforts are along lines that win the approval and support of honest men and women of all parties.

IN CONCLUSION

If you remit $5,000 on this stock you will own practically one oil well. You could not go and secure a lease and complete a well for less and it might be dry. This company submitted this propositon, realizing its merit—and knows the capital is certain to be raised. With this capital paid in the company will, during the next eight months, get down the balance of at least 300 producing oil and gas wells. With even fifty more wells drilled—such wells should enhance the value of the properties—until they would command ready sale at $5,000,000 or $6,000,000. Stock is worth what the property would bring and the proceeds pro-rated. No one could buy the Uncle Sam Oil Company for $3,000,000 now. The stockholders would vote the sale down. With $2,000,000 additional cash put into drilling 400 more oil and gas wells—completing a main trunk pipe line and enlarging our three refineries to a combined capacity of 20,000 barrels per day—will build up and enhance the value of the Uncle Sam Oil Company so that it should sell for $18,000,000 to $20,000,000. Now figure the proposition over for yourself and you will have to admit that this is a real investment opportunity. The oil business is ranking today in the Middle West ahead of farming and merchandise or banking. Over 85 per cent of oil and gas wells drilled in the Oklahoma field are successful. When completed they will produce oil for years. We have a well organized field department. Can operate thirty or forty drills with more economy than three or four. We cannot go to the big banks and trust companies for capital because they are all more or less dominated by the "Money Trust," which is the "Standard Oil" clique of financiers. However, we know that right here at home—in Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Colorado and Illinois—states where the products from Oklahoma and Kansas crude oil are needed by the people—that in these states we can easily find 10,000 patriotic investors who can invest an average of $200 each and thereby take all the stock and complete this big enterprise and keep it in the ownership of the people—and with these new stockholders we can force a real square deal in the Osage lease fight. If we can save the Osage lease it will put the stock up twenty times over night.

The treasurer of the company is under a $100,000 bond. The secretary of the company is a white-haired, determined Methodist, an old settler of Kansas, formerly from Pennsylvania, from the district where the first oil wells were drilled. Our general counsel, who devotes all his time in helping to build up the company, is a former pioneer Kansan whose brothers joined the Union army from Kansas as quick as they were old enough to do so.

All money coming to the company is deposited in the company's name each day in the Kansas Trust Company, Kansas City, Kan., which is the designated depository of the company, by the board of directors. Every dollar paid out is by a company check signed by four officers of the company. The board of directors can on five days' notice meet and discharge any officer. This company was organized and has been built up for principle as well as financial gain. The stockholders, directors and officers have become accustomed to every kind of persecution and assault on the company—but every attack makes them more determined to build stronger and greater. The company is established and it is backed by men who have the spirit bred in them that made Kansas a free state. We know our proposition is solid and that the future will prove that it is a real opportunity. We know the Uncle Sam Oil Company with this additional capital will have a great future. We have accomplished more during the first few years than the Oil Trust did in the first years of its existence. And we have had outrageous persecution to meet, with our criminal competitor in control of several departments of the federal government and with a purchased press also at their beck and call. The Uncle Sam Oil Company is a needed corporation and will be a benefit to every oil consumer in the Middle West. By its competition with the Oil Trust it will save thousands of you more than you need to pay in for the stock to insure its great success. If you want to join a real live wire organization of stayers and fighters in a worthy cause—start the New Year right by enrolling under the Uncle Sam flag and sending your check attached to the above order blank before other wide-awake investors secure what you know you want.

Respectfully Submitted,

THE UNCLE SAM OIL COMPANY

COTTON DROPPED PART OF ADVANCE

During the Early Trading Cotton Made New High Ground for the Movement, But Realizing Set In.

New York, January 19.—Cotton made new high ground for the movement during today's early trading, but met considerable realizing and lost part of the advance, with the close steady at a net gain of 1 to 6 points.

Higher Liverpool cables, larger English spot sales, continued reports of an improved tone in the goods market, and bullish southern spot advices, seemed to be chief factors in early strength. The market opened firm at an advance of 5 to 10 points, and after some irregularity sold 9 to 15 points net higher. There seemed to be a somewhat broadening demand on this upturn, besides continued covering and some support from trade sources.

Stop orders were reported as the market sold above the last week's high level, but after their execution the market met increased realizing. March contracts, at 12.73, showed an advance of nearly 75 points from recent low records, and scattering longs seemed inclined to take profits as soon as the demand became less urgent.

Rumors of rather bearish private ginning returns probably promoted the tendency in this direction, and the market seemed to be somewhat unsettled in the late trading, when offerings of March were enough to attract some attention and to cause a moderate shrinkage in the premium.

Closing prices were practically the lowest of the day. Advices from the south continued to report an improved demand from exporters and southern mills, supposed to be mostly in the way of filling out January commitments.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, January 19.—Cotton was moderately active in the morning session, but became dull in the afternoon. Around the opening a good volume of business was done on a rising market, but realizing by longs increased as the day progressed and finally was more or less of a pressure.

Spot news was the main influence. Bulls made much of the large Liverpool sales, as well as of reports from points in the south telling of an increased demand, a firmer attitude on the part of holders and prospects of an increased business. In the local market it was said that much more attention was being paid to the lower grades and that spot shorts were having difficulty in filling their commitments of the better grades.

First prices were 7 to 8 points up and the tone was steady. Cables were better than due and brokers handled a rather large volume of outside buying orders for long account. The market gradually worked up to a level 12 to 13 points over Saturday's last quotations. Prices sagged in the afternoon, under dullness, and offerings by longs who wanted profits. The close was steady at a net gain for the day of 6 points.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, January 19.—On moderate business the better feeling in general business circles was shown in the advance and strength of prices during the day, although the afternoon showed a recession from the extreme level when dullness succeeded the more insistent demand. Prices, however, closed at an improvement from Saturday's quotations. Liverpool reported good spot sales with a local and continental demand decreased hedging sales. The south holds its cotton firmly and the demand continues. Trading here is mainly local and anticipatory. Speculation is not active. The advance is due largely to the spot cotton requirements and the trade is looking forward to every ginning report, private or governmental, upon which to estimate the help of the late crop estimate, the final outturn.

Liverpool is due tomorrow 2½ to 4 points decline.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, January 19.—The cotton market made new high record for the movement this morning, March selling at 12.73. This was an advance of about three-fourths of a cent a pound in ten days and was going fast enough. Conservative traders who have profits on the long side will take them down on the hard spots between now and next Friday, the date of the next ginning report. There was enough profit-taking today to ease the market off about ten points from the top and the close was at a net advance of only three to five points on the active months.

Liverpool is due to come 2½ to 4 points down.

The bulls in the coffee market are getting very tired and the market broke about twenty-five points today. It simply sagged of its own weight as soon as left to take care of itself. Coffee is too high and those who sell it on every rally have been making money for months and will continue to do so.

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, January 19.—Cotton seed oil was firmer on advancing crude markets, further buying for outside long account, stimulated by the strength in lard and support from refiners. Closing prices were 5 to 10 points net higher. Sales 6,900 barrels.

Prime crude 5.93@6.00; prime summer yellow 6.90@7.05; January 6.91; February 7.07; March 7.20; April 7.30; May 7.41; June 7.50; July 7.60; August 7.68; prime winter yellow 7.20@7.75; prime summer white 7.00@7.60. Futures ranged as follows:

Memphis, January 19.—Cotton seed products, prime basis: Oil 6.20; meal $27.00; linters 2⅝@3¾.

Jay, Bond & Co.

New York, January 19.—Large spot sales in Liverpool at higher prices, encouraging cables and a good general demand in the south, caused a further advance today. Trade news also shows continued growth of confidence and increasing industrial activity. The impending census report is expected around thirteen and a half million bales. Unless there is a marked slackening in the spot demand, consequent to completion of January commitments, a steady market is most probable.

Dry Goods.

New York, January 19.—Cotton goods markets were steadier today with trading showing more breadth. Flannellette prices were about on the plane of a year ago. Pillow tubings were advanced ½ cent a yard. Men's wear serges have been priced from 20 cents to 45 cents a yard down from last year on the nansook line. Silks were in better demand.

DUTY FREE WHEAT DEPRESSED PRICES

The Chicago Market Closed Weak, Three-Eighths to Half Cent Lower—Corn Also Off.

Chicago, January 19.—Final removal of any obstacle to importing wheat from Argentina duty free was an element today in depressing the market here. Prices closed weak at a decline of ⅜@½ cent net. Corn finished ⅛ to ¼@⅜ cent down and oats unchanged to a shade off, but provisions up 5@7½ to 20 cents.

Bearish sentiment regarding wheat had quite an imposing array of facts on which to rely. In addition to possibility of imports whenever desired from Argentina, the continued mild temperatures over the winter crop belt formed a telling influence from the outset. It also was declared the country was selling reserves more freely than at any time since September. Besides, world shipments were heavy, milling demand slim and there was no export call apparent. Only one rally of much importance took place and that failed to carry the market above the previous close. What temporary strength there was came chiefly from a liberal decrease in the visible supply. Australian advices were bullish, but for the time being seemed to have lost their effect.

Corn sagged as a result of feeding demand falling off because of there being no immediate prospect of unusually cold weather. The market, however, displayed some power of resistance. There was further buying on the part of large dealers who were conspicuous purchasing at advantageous times last week.

Oats showed more strength relatively than other grain. Traders seemed disposed to ignore Canadian shipments as a price-making factor at present.

Packers bid up provisions. The lift was made feasible owing to higher prices being paid for live hogs.

18 CANDIDATES AFTER THIS COUNTY OFFICE

Canton, Ga., January 19.—(Special.) Politics is warming up in Cherokee county and candidates are making a rush to get out their announcements. There are at present twelve announcements for county treasurer, three for tax collector and three for receiver. It is said that there will be six additional announcements for treasurer, making a total of eighteen candidates for this office.

There will be two candidates for sheriff and two for clerk of the superior court.

It is not known just yet who will be in the race for representative, but if the present representative, Hon. J. N. Simpson, should not make the race, there will likely be several candidates for this important office. Among the names already mentioned are Hon. J. U. Fountain, W. D. Latimer, of Woodstock, and J. P. Rudasille, editor of The Cherokee Advance.

BANKERS ENTERTAINED BY SAVANNAH BANKS

Savannah, Ga., January 19.—(Special.)—Bankers from throughout Georgia, Florida and South Carolina gathered here today to attend an oyster roast as the guests of the Associated Banks of Savannah. General P. W. Meldrim, T. M. Cunningham and R. M. Hitch pressed Savannah's claims to the regional bank that will serve southeastern territory.

Congressman Claude Weaver, of Oklahoma, and Congressman Charles A. Korbley, of Indiana, discussed the federal reserve system from the standpoint of its advantages to the individual banks. Congressman Weaver said he was strongly in favor of having one of the regional banks located here in preference to Atlanta.

DR. T. R. GARLINGTON DIES AT CEDARTOWN

Cedartown, Ga., January 19.—(Special.)—Dr. T. R. Garlington, one of the most prominent physicians in north Georgia, died this morning at the home of his father-in-law, Captain J. A. Peek, at this place.

Until a few months ago Dr. Garlington practiced his profession in Rome, Ga., at which city he had been a resident for many years. Recently, however, he went west in an endeavor to improve his failing health. Failing to recuperate he came to Cedartown only a short while ago.

Dr. Garlington was 58 years old and is survived by his wife and three sons, Algernon, Richard and Edward. The funeral services will take place at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning and the interment will be at Greenwood cemetery.

STOCKS RESUMED UPWARD MOVEMENT

Gains of Some Issues Ran From One to Two Points, But Profit-Taking Checked Advance.

New York, January 19.—The advance in the stock market was resumed today. A majority of the speculative shares overcame the effect of the reaction late last week and established new high prices for the upward movement. Gains in many instances ran from 1 to 2 points, although profit-taking in the final hour cut into the advance.

Traders moved cautiously and the volume of business was not large. It was felt that professional buying had been overdone recently and that the slight setback which the market received was due to that cause. Operators on the long side, in consequence, moved slowly today, and this tendency was emphasized by the fact that outside buying of investment stocks, which supported the market last week, played only a small part in the day's transactions. Added restraint was imposed by the disinclination of traders to take on new lines on the day before delivery of President Wilson's message to congress on trust questions, which is expected to be of large influence upon sentiment in the financial world.

Reading was the conspicuous exception to the day's movement. It was consistently under pressure, and its backwardness was a drag on the general market. The coppers were strong, being influenced by increasing activity in the metal markets here and abroad. Steel shares also were in good demand. London buying of Steel and the coppers assisted the upturn in these shares. In other quarters of the market, however, London sold stocks.

Although demand for the high-grade investment stocks fell off, the bond market preserved a strong tone. Traders referred to the continued absorption of bonds at rising prices as one of the best indications of improvement in the general situation. Offering this week of New York state issue of 4½ per cent bonds will afford a clear test of the investment situation, with all indications now pointing to a successful outcome. Total sales, par value, $2,900,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

ALL DIXIE REMEMBERS GEN. LEE'S BIRTHDAY

Richmond, Va., January 19.—Throughout the south and notably in Virginia today the 107th anniversary of the birth of General Robert E. Lee is being fittingly observed. In this state, and particularly in Richmond, the day was celebrated as a holiday by many persons.

Practically all industrial activity ceased for part of the day and banks, schools and many business and manufacturing plants were closed. At all Confederate veteran gatherings, General Lee's farewell address to the army of northern Virginia was read.

JOHN SKELTON WILLIAMS CONFIRMED BY SENATE

He Becomes Controller of Currency and Member Federal Reserve Bank Board.

Washington, January 19.—The nomination of John Skelton Williams, now assistant secretary of the treasury, to be controller of the currency, and, as such, ex-officio member of the federal reserve bank board, was confirmed by the senate in executive session late today.

The only opposition to the confirmation of Mr. Williams was voiced by Senators Bristow, of Kansas, and William Alden Smith, of Michigan. Senator Bristow reviewed the action of Mr. Williams in depositing funds with the Munsey Trust company when it took over the United States Trust company, in this city, to avert a panic.

Senators Reed, of Missouri; Martin, of Virginia, Mr. Williams' home state, and Chilton, of West Virginia, praised the ability of the president's nominee for the important post, and urged his confirmation.

There was no roll call on the confirmation and the only voice heard against it was that of Senator Bristow when the vive voice vote was taken.

Mr. Williams becomes an immediate member of the organization committee, now holding hearings in the west, to determine on locations for the federal reserve banks, and the new controller will prepare to join his colleagues, Secretaries McAdoo and Houston, as soon as possible.

BAD TRACK AND SPEED CAUSED CENTRAL WRECK

Washington, January 19.—Responsibility for the Central of Georgia railway wreck near Clayton, Ala., last November, which resulted in the death of nine passengers and the injury of 390 persons, was placed on "bad track conditions and speed inconsistent with safety" by a report made to the interstate commerce commission today, by H. W. Belnap, chief inspector of safety appliances.

"The track in the vicinity of the accident," he says, "was in a deplorable condition. With the kind of track existing in the vicinity of this derailment, it is doubtful if trains could be run with safety even at the comparatively low speed allowed by the schedule. The maximum speed permitted, as shown by the minimum time between stations, certainly is not safe." He said that there is "nothing to prevent an engineman from running 60 or more miles an hour over portions of the road, providing only that he does not exceed the minimum allowed between stations."

During the sixteen days before the accident, Mr. Belnap reports, the section foreman "had found fourteen broken rails, thirteen of which he had patched and left in the track." He adds that it was "evident these rails had outlived their usefulness." He blames the road for its method of repairing rail breaks, declaring that "these numerous breaks indicate that material is not furnished for making repairs in a proper manner. When rails of this character are used on rotten ties, without ballast and with an inadequate force of men to patrol the track and perform necessary work accidents of this character may be expected to occur."

OUTLAW HOLDS FORT AFTER WEEK'S SIEGE

Mayville, N. Y., January 19.—Sheriff Anderson failed today in two attempts to break the seven days' siege of the Beardsley farm at Summerdale and to arrest Edward Beardsley. In the first he used two out-of-town detectives, posing as photographers to get close enough to Beardsley to grapple with him. Beardsley posed for a picture at the window, but never relinquished his rifle and the detectives could not carry out their plan.

Later this afternoon Fred Beardsley, a cousin of the besieged farmer; Axel Oslen, a friend, and Luther S. Lukin, county clerk, visited the outlaw. The sheriff thought Beardsley might surrender to Lukin. Beardsley received them at the window and talked freely, but did not surrender.

"I will surrender on Wednesday, when the mother-in-law takes the kids," he said. "Then I am going to jail with Attorney Pickard. If there's any monkey business from the sheriff and his gang, then there's going to be trouble. I'm going to march to the jail without their help."

Beardsley said the woman in the house, Mrs. Edna Pier, who was wounded by the accidental discharge of a revolver last night, was all right.

The fact that Beardsley seems to be preparing a legal defense has satisfied Sheriff Anderson that the man is sincere in his promise to give himself up Wednesday. He will not, however, let an opportunity go by to capture him.

JUDGE BEN HILL SUED.

Refused to Sign Habeas Corpus Papers, Says Lawyer.

Just before the clerk of the superior court closed his books on Monday evening, Attorney A. V. Poole, of the Atlanta bar, filed a suit for $2,500 under section 4860 of the code of 1910, against Judge Ben Hill of the criminal branch of the superior court, in which Poole alleges that Judge Hill refused, on Christmas morning, to sign papers in a habeas corpus case in which R. M. Jones, a lumber dealer, was principal.

Poole alleges that Judge Hill became angered when aroused from sleep and refused to sign the papers.

Poole stated last night that he brought the suit under the section of the code which, in substance, states that when a judge refuses to sign habeas corpus proceedings, he is subject to a penalty.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

J. R. Smith, owner of the Cotton States Belting and Supply company building which burned last week, announced on Monday that in the next two days he expects to have reached a full settlement of matters in regard to the burned building and that the replacing of the structure will start at once. Contracts have already been placed for a great deal of the material needed for erecting the new building.

It is understood that the affairs of the Avery company building are in the same status and that the construction of a building to replace this burned structure will also begin at once.

Both concerns are now negotiating for temporary quarters and expect to effect leases within the next few days.

Real Estate Sales.

One of the first large sales of the new year to be announced was that of the Lorraine apartments, announced by J. H. Ewing, of Smith, Rankin & Ewing, on Monday.

Mr. Ewing sold this property for himself and Mr. Benson for a consideration of $100,000. The names of the purchasers are withheld for the present.

The property is on the south side of Carnegie way and adjoins the Carnegie library building. It is a three-story brick apartment house on a lot fronting 60 feet with a depth of 58½ feet.

The next several weeks bid fair to be well sprinkled with deals of more than average size. There are pending on Peachtree street sales of three pieces of property, between Baker street and Currier street. On one of these parcels, it is understood, there is a sale and a resale. It is also understood that there is a very important deal pending on Marietta street.

Skyscraper "Dope."

While the "dope" on Atlanta's prospective skyscrapers has been more or less scarce lately, there is reason to believe that the year will show material progress in tall buildings.

Dr. E. L. Connally states that plans are proceeding for his building on the Brown & Allen corner, and that his notice to tenants to vacate by next September holds good.

It is stated also that W. L. Stoddart, the architect, is still busy upon the plans for a thirty-story structure upon the site of the Bijou theater and the Jacobs' drug store at the northeast corner of Marietta and Forsyth streets.

Pankhurstic Methods Used by Atlanta Doctor On Plate Glass Window

Dr. W. M. Hayes, a well-known physician with offices at 203 Grant building, can go Pankhurstic methods one better in venting anger upon a plate glass show window.

Dr. Hayes recently bought an automobile tire from an automobile concern on Auburn avenue. He contends that the tire didn't come up to expectations and that he was peeved because it didn't and because the management refused to replace it.

Last night Dr. Hayes and H. E. Gregory, a salesman living at 330 Spring street, were passing the establishment, when Dr. Hayes suddenly became angry at sight of the plate glass window, and, plunged his fist through the glass.

Policeman Appling put the physician under arrest. Dr. Hayes put up $25.75 for his appearance in recorder's court this afternoon.

NEW CROP RIBBON CANE SYRUP

AT THIS SEASON of the year, down in south Georgia, the farmer boys and girls have been constantly on the go attending "cane grindings."

At these social gatherings they drink the pure juice of the cane as it trickles into the retainer.

If you could but taste it yourself you would appreciate why the Georgia Cane Syrup is so delightful.

Just now we are the recipients of a shipment of New Georgia Cane Syrup that is above the ordinary grade. Place it to your lips; it has that tang and distinct flavor you require for your table.

Instead of the customary 10 pounds to the gallon, ours is 12 pounds to the gallon (a full-weight gallon).

An initial trial will make you a pleased customer.

Just tinkle Main 3179, or Atlanta 432 and order now.

POLICE OF THE COUNTRY ARE APPEALED TO AID

Picture of Nolan, Suspected of Hold-Up, Sent Broadcast.

Untangling the twisted skeins of near evidence and rumors, the county police on Monday appealed to the police of the country to help them in establishing the identity of James Nolan, now held under a warrant sworn out in Cobb county by Sheriff W. D. Swann, charging the suspect with the hold-up of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis passenger train, Atlanta bound, last Friday night.

Bertillon "mugs," known as photos, were mailed out of Atlanta on Monday morning to the principal cities of the country in order to find out whether or not Nolan is a known crook. Wire identifications are asked from all police chiefs in case Nolan is recognized.

Will Be Kept in Tower.

The move to hold Nolan under a legal warrant and thus frustrate any chance his attorney might take to have him released on a habeas corpus writ, came early Monday. Sheriff Swann, of Cobb county, signed the affidavit accompanying the criminal warrant charging that the crime of holding up the train was committed in Cobb county, as Vinings, the station where the bandit first appeared aboard the train, is situated in that county. However, Nolan will be kept in the Tower, at least temporarily, until the process of identification is through with.

A well-founded rumor was extant on Monday afternoon that a resident of Marietta had identified Nolan as the man he had seen at Vinings on Thursday night, loafing around the depot. This is the first time that anyone has declared that Nolan had been in the neighborhood of the hold-up before Friday night.

Had Outside Help.

Conductor F. L. Adams, of the Western and Atlantic railroad, saw Nolan Monday at the Tower, and declared he had seen the man along the Western and Atlantic right-of-way on Friday afternoon before the hold-up. This evidence does not agree, however, with that of Will Brown, the negro brickyard employee at Bolton, who says he saw Nolan get off the Rome express at Bolton at 5:30 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Chief Matthison, of the county police, stated to The Constitution on Monday afternoon that he was devoting all of his energies to the securing of the names of Nolan's confederates in the hold-up if Nolan proves to be the man who entered the Pullman car "Nyssa" and robbed four of its eleven passengers.

"If this is the man," said the chief, "he must have had outside help. We have searched the vicinity of the hold-up diligently and failed to recover any of the money taken from the passengers or the gun which he used. A 'pal' must have taken them from him and made good his escape. That, at least, is the way we figure it out."

Chief Matthison talked with Nolan on Monday, but at the close of the interview said his talk had been very unsatisfactory.

QUESTIONS MENTAL CONDITION OF SPEER

released. The city of Macon appealed to the supreme court of the United States, the witness said, which held that the district court was without jurisdiction. Jemison was then replaced on the chaingang of Macon, and was again released by order of Judge Speer, who cited the city attorney, superintendent of public works and chief of police for contempt. The case is still pending, he asserted.

The defense read from a decision of the supreme court of Georgia, holding that in a case said to be similar it had been held that a city recorder is without authority to sentence a prisoner for more than three months, depriving him of the right of trial by jury. The witness admitted that, in his opinion, had the Jemison case been carried to the supreme court of Georgia, it would have been reversed.

Chairman Webb, after the cross-examination of the witness had continued for some minutes, stated to counsel for the defense that the principal question at issue was whether or not Judge Speer had violated a mandate of the supreme court of the United States, and requested that the examination be conducted along this line.

Owing to the absence of a witness, the committee adjourned at 11:30 until 2:30 o'clock.

The hearing was resumed at 2:30 o'clock. Former Chief of Police Granville Conner testified to having been cited for contempt before Judge Speer, following the rearrest of Jemison by city authorities.

Morgan Called to Stand.

Cecil Morgan, deputy clerk of the United States court, at Macon, a brother-in-law of Judge Speer, called to the stand, gave data relative to the Jemison habeas corpus case.

Mr. Morgan, when questioned regarding the mandate of the supreme court of the United States, in the Jemison case, stated that it was received in his office on November 24, 1905, and was made a judgment of the United States court for the southern district of Georgia, in open court, on June 8, 1906.

"Mr. Morgan," said Chairman Webb, "Can you tell me why these months elapsed between the filing of the supreme court's mandate and its being made the judgment of the lower court?"

"No, sir, I can not."

"Did Judge Speer ever tell you, ever make any explanation of that?"

"No, sir, he did not."

The trend of inquiry changed when John R. L. Smith, the next witness, took the stand.

"Mr. Smith, have you noticed anything peculiar in Judge Speer's mental condition?" asked Chairman Webb.

In reply Mr. Smith stated that Judge Speer had approached him regarding the sale of a horse. He said that Judge Speer had offered to sell him for about $200, a horse which he claimed was worth $750. He said that Judge Speer referred to a previous conversation regarding the deal, and appeared surprised when informed that the subject had not previously been broached between them.

Summary of Charges.

The charges against Judge Speer, as summarized by Congressman Clayton before the house of representatives on August 27, 1913, follow:

"With having violated section 67 of the judicial code in allowing his son-in-law to be appointed and employed in offices and duties in his court.

"With the violation of the bankruptcy act, in allowing compensation in excess of the provisions of that act, to a trustee who was his personal friend.

"A violation of the laws in drawing juries.

"A violation of a mandate of the supreme court of the United States.

"Oppressive and corrupt use of his official position in deciding cases unjustly in favor of his son-in-law.

"Unlawful and corrupt conduct in procedings where in his son-in-law had a contingent fee.

"Corrupt and unwarranted use of his official authority in using court officials who were paid by the government, as private servants, without rendering any service to the government.

"Oppressive and corrupt conduct in allowing the dissipation of assets of bankruptcy estate by the employment of unnecessary officials and the payment of excessive fees.

"Oppressive and corrupt abuses in granting orders appointing receivers for property without notice to the owners and without cause, resulting in great loss to the party.

"Oppressive and corrupt abuse of authority in refusing to allow the dismissal of litigation thereby permitting relatives and favorites to profit by the receipt of large fees.

"Improper, if not corrupt, abuse of authority, in taking or causing to be taken, money from the court fund for his private use.

"Oppressive conduct in entertaining matters beyond his jurisdiction, fining parties and the like.

"Unlawful and oppressive conduct in defying the mandate of the circuit court of appeals.

"Oppressive conduct in allowing money to remain on deposit without interest in banks in which relatives or friends were interested.

"And there is also some evidence adduced before the committee of the judge having allowed excessive fees to receivers for improper purposes, and also corrupt conduct in raising the amount of fees allowed to others in order that his son-in-law might profit thereby.

"Attempted bribery of officials appointed to act as custodian.

"Oppressive conduct in unlawfully seizing and selling property.

"Use of drugs impairing his mental faculties.

The investigation is being conducted by a subcommittee of the house committee on judiciary.

Representative Webb, of North Carolina, is chairman of the committee. Other members are Representatives Fitz Henry, of Illinois, and Volstead, of Minnesota. The charges against Judge Speer were first lodged with the judiciary committee of the house of representatives on August 16, 1913, in a confidential communication from the department of justice, and on August 27, 1913, the house ordered an investigation.

After the resolution under which the committee acts had been read today, Chairman Webb stated that the proceeding was in the nature of a grand jury hearing. He stated that Judge Speer, who was present, would be allowed counsel, and at his request Judge Speer designated his attorneys.

Judge A. J. Cobb, counsel for Judge Speer, addressed the committee briefly, promising co-operation in facilitating the investigation.
